DISSOLUTION OF TURKISH NATIONAL ASSEMBLY FIXED

Present Government Will Function Until Elections Are Held; Mustapha Kemal Pasha's Position Said to Be Strengthened; Peace Negotiations to Proceed.

Angora, April 2.—The Turkish National Assembly has voted to dissolve. New elections will be held in two months.

The dissolution proposal was a Government motion and its adoption is regarded as having strengthened the position of Mustapha Kemal Pasha at this juncture.

The present Assembly will continue to function until the elections are held. The peace negotiations meanwhile proceed. It is expected the Turkish reply to the Allied communication with regard to the Near East negotiations will be delivered by the end of this week.

Refugee Situation.

Constantinople, April 2.—Refugee situation here is becoming so serious that the American commander-in-chief has called the American Red Cross and the Near East Relief urging funds to permit the evacuation of the 38,000 Greeks and Russians crowded into the refugee quarters.

The mortality among the refugees now exceeds one per cent daily and there seems to be no way of checking the epidemics among them so long as present conditions continue. While there are continual escapes of individuals among the refugees who are mingling with the city's population threatening the spread of disease here and menacing all Europe, the authorities fear.

B.C. SELLS PLANT FOR $140,000 AS INDUSTRIES BOOM

All Advances to Schaake Works Repaid Under Big Deal

The Schaake Machinery and the T. J. Shore Bolt and Nut Plant and the Pacific Gas Motor Works, of Vancouver, were sold to-day to the Haynes Boiler and Engine Co. for $140,000, which reimburses the Provincial Government for all the money advanced by way of loans through the Department of Industries and the accumulated charges.

The deal has been pending since last fall under negotiations carried on by Major Don Martin. It was finally completed last week in Vancouver by Hon. John Hart, Minister of Finance and Industries.

The sale at a price which covers the Department of Industries for all its advances is accepted by Mr. Hart and members of the Department as gratifying in itself and indicating improved business conditions in British Columbia.

Persons in circles here which have been interested in the efforts made by the Government to build up industries in the Province, recalled the severe criticism leveled at the loan to the Schaake concern by Mr. Bowser and the dire predictions he made at the last two sessions of the Legislature of the financial losses the Government would have to suffer because of it.

DOUKHOBORS DEFY POLICE OFFICERS

Reinforcements Necessary Before Wanted Man Taken

Grand Forks, B.C., April 2.—Doukhorobors have again shown police officers that they can show more action than the alleged "passive resistance" with which they are usually credited.

Chief Constable J. A. Fraser, of Greenwood; Constables G. F. Kilham, of Grand Forks, and Corporal Cameron and Constable Withers, of the R.C.M.P., were all put to rout Saturday when they attempted to arrest one Sam Cheranoff, suspected of having set fire to the Doukhorobors' school last Monday morning.

Coast Torn in Shreds
Constable Kilham had his coat torn from him in shreds by Doukhorobors friends of the accused during the melee, in which a score or more of the Doukhorobors fought off the constables.

The encounter took place in the Doukhorob settlement some five miles from town, and when the first officers failed to make arrest, reinforcements were sent for. Inspector King and two constables of the R.C.M.P. and Chief of Police Savage and several specially sworn deputies hurried to the scene, when the arrest was effected and Cheranoff was brought to the local jail.

Made Threats
Cheranoff is said to have made threats to burn the school and shortly after the fire last Monday was seen walking along the rail track in the vicinity. He will come up for a hearing soon. Police state that he admitted having set fire to the school, as he claims he is opposed to schools.

Britain's Finances For Fiscal Year

London, April 2.—The Government Saturday night issued the balance sheet of the United Kingdom for the fiscal year ended March 31.

Total governmental revenues were £914,012,482 and expenditures £812,496,604, leaving a surplus of £101,515,878.

The revenue for the year ended Saturday is £210,867,421 below that of last year, while the expenditure also decreased £266,690,025. Customs and excise produced £44,025,000 less than the previous year; excess profits duties £28,448,000; property and income tax £19,842,000; postal service £5,850,000, while the State duties yielded £4,680,000 more; telephone service £3,050,000; corporation and profits tax £1,461,000, and motor vehicle duties £1,225,000.

The principal items of expenditure were: Interest on war debt, £309,780,511; fighting services, £111,000,000; civil services, £238,528,000. The expenditure for fighting services, which was £73,000,000 below the previous year, was less by £79,000,000 than the estimates and more than £30,000,000 was saved on civil services, the estimates for which were £163,000,000 less than in 1921-22.

The floating debt outstanding is £809,942,500, a decrease of £219,273,000 compared with the floating debt on March 31, 1922.

FORCED POLICE TO THROW UP HANDS

Dramatic Finale to Attempted Arrest in Cariboo

Roy McKinley Was Eager for Gun Fight

Special to The Times

Prince George, B. C., April 2.—Roy McKinley, whom the police are trying to capture on a charge of supplying liquor to Indians, gave the officers here a touch of high life over the week end.

Armed with a warrant, Chief Carlow and Sgt. McLeod, of the Mounted Police, attempted to arrest him Saturday. When the officers approached him he whipped out a revolver and in view of many bystanders forced the officers to hold their hands aloft while he made them a minute speech. Backing away McKinley leaped on his horse and rode down the Quesset Road. In the evening, he returned and the police decided to allow him time to cool off, for he was looking for a gunfight. This morning he had sobered but escaped again from the officers who are now out hunting him with rifles.

MOTOR PRINCESS TAKING FIRST PLUNGE

The new Bellingham-Sidney automobile ferry entered the last stage toward completion, when she was launched in the waters of Esquimalt Harbor on Saturday. Mrs. Norman Yarrow was sponsor for the occasion. The vessel is to be ready for service in six weeks' time, and engines are now to be installed.

CATHOLIC BISHOP GOING TO ROME

Rt. Rev. Alex. MacDonald to Visit Head of Church Will Be Fifth Time in Eternal City

His Lordship Bishop MacDonald is leaving Victoria to-day on a visit to Rome. He will sail from New York April 19 on the steamer Taormina, having decided to take the Naples route, as being the most pleasant at this time of year. His present expectation is to be back in June, although this of course will depend on circumstances.

Bishop MacDonald is no stranger to Rome, having been there on four previous occasions. He pursued his studies there from 1879 to 1884, and was ordained priest in the cathedral. St. John Lateran, known ordinarily as the Basilica, the mistress of churches because it is the oldest in the city. He was there in the summer of 1900 with the Canadian pilgrims, and again in 1908 when he was consecrated Bishop in the chapel of the Propaganda where he had been a student years before. His last visit was in 1914 and on the return trip he came down the Rhine in June of that year, just in time to escape the outbreak of the war.

A Bishop of the Catholic Church makes to Rome a complete report of the affairs of his diocese every three years, and is bound to pay a visit "ad Limina" to the head of the church every ten years, if at all possible. As Bishop MacDonald was there in 1914 he would not, under ordinary conditions, be going again until next year, but he has received a special call to come at this time, presumably to meet the Archbishop of Toronto who is also there and to take up some matters in connection with the approaching gathering of the Vatican Council, which was put off on account of the war. Bishop MacDonald is looking forward with anticipation to meet the present Pope, whom he has never seen.

JAPANESE LOST IN HAWAIIAN CRATER

Honolulu, April 2.—Word came from Waialeale, Island of Maui, to-day, that a party of six Japanese was lost in the crater of Haleakala volcano. No details were given.

COERCION CHARGED ON QUESTION OF DAYLIGHT SAVING

Montreal, April 2.—Mayor Martin has received two letters charging coercion on the part of industrial firms in inducing their employees to sign petitions for daylight saving. The writer of these is employed in the Canadian Pacific Railway Angus shops and claims that only petitions in favor of advanced time are placed before the employees. The other letter, says that open coercion is being exercised in offices and factories.

FRANCE INCREASES TAX ON TOBACCO

Paris, April 2.—Users of tobacco once more have been called upon to lighten the general burden of taxation. Beginning to-day the price of smoking and chewing tobaccos and snuff were increased 10 per cent, to compensate for the reduction in tax on wages and income. The price on tobacco served out to men doing military service also has been increased, but the troops will have to pay only three francs per kilogram, as compared with 2 1/2 francs paid by civilians.

WOMAN SHOT.

Yakima, Wash., April 2.—Mrs. R. Matson, proprietress of the Ideal Rooming House, was shot to death last night in her place. Police officers found evidence of a drunken party at the place, and assume Mrs. Matson was shot during a quarrel.

Divorce Court In England Has 'Less Work to Do'

London, April 2.—(Canadian Press Cable).—Judges and big wigs generally rose for the Easter holidays well pleased with themselves, especially because of the fact that practically every branch of the judiciary has caught up with the arrears of business which used to be considerable.

Litigation, owing to the decline in industry, is not as heavy as formerly which accounts partly for the arrears having been overtaken, but economies and improvements in the administration of justice is also responsible in a measure.

The probable consequence of this efficiency is that the successor is likely to be appointed for late Justice Bray. The Divorce Court which used to have enormous arrears of business has risen almost abreast of its work. There is a continuous decline in the number of such cases although the number is still above the level of the pre-war years. The reputation of children marriages, which finish in this court has repeatedly been a subject of comment. The military provides the largest number of applicants.

JOHN PIERCY DIES AFTER OPERATION

Was Pioneer Business Man and Former Police Commissioner

Within the past few months Victoria has suffered the loss of several of those pioneer business men who helped in building the city, the latest to answer the call of the Grim Reaper being John Piercy, who passed away at St. Joseph's Hospital on Saturday evening about midnight. He was taken ill on Monday last, and underwent a serious operation from the effects of which he failed to rally. His many friends will be shocked at his passing and much sympathy will be extended to his widow and family in their loss.

Born in Yorkshire, England, Mr. Piercy came to Victoria in the early eighties and soon engaged in business for himself, establishing the well-known firm of Piercy & Co., wholesale dry goods. After a successful career he retired, spending a great deal of his leisure time at his country home at Elk Lake. But to a map of Mr. Piercy's activities, a life of leisure soon proved irksome and he re-entered business, choosing Prince Rupert for his new operations, where he entered partnership with Mr. Morris in establishing the firm of Piercy-Morris Co. On the death of his partner, Mr. Morris, Mr. Piercy finally retired from business.

Always keenly alive to the progress of Victoria, Mr. Piercy took a prominent part in the affairs of the city. About twenty years ago he served on the Board of Police Commissioners with much success. For many years he was an active member of the Council of the Board of Trade and was on a number of the Board's most important committees, where his business acumen served the community well.

In politics he was Liberal and at one time was President of the Victoria Liberal Association. He was a member of the Victoria Columbia Lodge A. F. and A. M., and also a highly respected member of the Pacific Club.

The late Mr. Piercy leaves his widow, two sons and four daughters, John, at Guy's Hospital, London, England; George, at San Francisco; Mrs. Reeves, Elk Lake; Mrs. Langley, San Francisco; Mrs. Oliphant, Victoria; and Miss Olive Piercy, at home, also one grandson, John Reeves. The remains are resting at the B. C. Funeral Chapel and due notice of the funeral will be given.

KILLED BY STREET CAR

Saskatoon, April 2.—In full view of a downtown Sunday crowd, Wilfrid George Plozman, five years old, was instantly killed shortly after noon yesterday by a street car.

MASKED BAND WAS SHORN OF DISGUISE

Ku Klux Klansmen Startle Pittsburg Worshippers Scrimmage Ensued When the Party Left Church

Pittsburg, April 2.—Six members of a band of 16 white hooded Ku Klux Klansmen were shorn of their masks in a scrimmage after they had been ordered from Bellevue Methodist Episcopal Church by the pastor, Rev. Dr. R. B. Umy, yesterday.

The Easter Sunday services had just started when the 16 white-robed figures entered and walked down the aisle toward the pulpit. They were stopped by Elmer Kidney, attorney, and member of the Board.

The Easter morning worshippers were startled when Mr. Kidney commanded the members of the masked band to leave.

At this point Dr. Umy intervened. "Gentlemen," he said, "I shall have to ask you to retire. You are disturbing the services here, which is a violation of the law. You will be welcome to remain if you remove your disguises. Otherwise you must go."

Identity Revealed.
The hooded men marched silently from the church, followed by a number of men from the congregation. Outside the church a scrimmage ensued and the hoods and robes of six of the band were torn away, revealing their identity. Before they left in automobiles parked nearby the license numbers of their cars were obtained.

GOLD WORKINGS IN QUEEN CHARLOTTE'S

Black Sand Near Massett Contains Gold and Platinum

Vancouver Concern Purchases 240 Acres

Special to The Times.

Prince Rupert, April 2.—P. Lenott & Co., of Vancouver, have purchased 240 acres of black sand on Queen Charlotte Islands not far from Massett which carries from ten to fifty cents a ton in gold and platinum and the claims are to be worked at once.

The black sand is from 6 to 14 feet deep all over the property. It has been worked in a small way for the past three years but the new purchasers have a new secret hydraulic process for separating both the gold and platinum.

The purchase has been made from Peter Kray, of Massett, who left here last night for home.

Representatives of the new owners are expected to arrive on the S. S. Prince Albert when she returns from Vancouver.

Lenine Dying, in Charge of Trotsky

London, April 2.—A dispatch to The Times from Riga says it has been learned that Premier Lenine of Russia, is completely under charge of Leon Trotsky, the Minister of War, who bars all persons from the bedside except Lenine's wife and the physicians. Even Lenine's brother, who came from Livadia, was not allowed to see the patient.

PRINCE OF JAPAN KILLED IN FRANCE

Prince Nahrihisa Kitashirakawa in Automobile Smash

Princess Fusako, Japanese Emperor's Sister, Injured

Bernay, France, April 2.—Prince Nahrihisa Kitashirakawa, brother-in-law of Emperor Yoshihito of Japan, was killed, and his wife, Princess Fusako, Prince Yasuhito Asaka, who also married a sister of the Emperor, and a lady-in-waiting, were seriously injured in an automobile accident, yesterday afternoon. The chauffeur of the car also was killed. The accident occurred on the Perriers in Campanville-Cherbourg road. The automobile was running at a high rate of speed and had just passed another car on the road when, for some unknown cause, it suddenly swerved and dashed head-on into a tree and was completely wrecked.

Prince Kitashirakawa was the son of the late Prince Yoshihisa. He married Princess Fusako, seventh daughter of the late Emperor Meiji, father of Emperor Yoshihito. The Prince was thirty-six years old. He was a major of artillery.

Body Rests in Church
Bernay, France, April 2.—The body of Prince Kitashirakawa, who was killed in an automobile accident near here yesterday, rested to-day in the nave of the tiny church at Perriers-la-Campagne, to which it was transported by the French authorities with the honors befitting a member of the Imperial Family of Japan. The Prince was a brother-in-law of Emperor Yoshihito. Efforts are being made to save the liver of Princess Fusako, widow of Kitashirakawa, Prince Yasuhiko Asaka, cousin of the Mikado, and Mlle. Elizabeth Saury, lady in waiting, who were injured.

M. Sato, surgeon from Paris with him Dr. Rouxberger, surgeon specialist, who found the injured Prince and Princess in a state precluding operation. Princess Fusako suffered a fractured left leg and a deep wound in the head, while Prince Asaka received severe wounds in the face and a fractured jaw and broken thigh. Despite the seriousness of their injuries, hopes are entertained for their recovery. Besides Kitashirakawa, the French chauffeur of the car, Victor Bichet, also was killed.

DIRECTIONAL STATION PLANNED

Wireless Position Finding Centre on West Coast

Advices received from authoritative sources in Vancouver to-day state that equipment for a directional wireless position finding station is now being purchased by the Government in the East and the station will be installed on this coast within the next few weeks.

The message does not give the location of the station, but states that in all probability, a site near the Pachena wireless station will be selected. The announcement is being received with great satisfaction here, as the need of a directional wireless station has long been expressed. The necessity for such a service was doubly emphasized by the recent marine disasters on the West Coast of this island when within a few days four vessels piled up on the rocks in foggy weather and one was burned off the coast.

DIRECTOR OF KRUPP PLANT DISCLAIMS ALL RESPONSIBILITY

Four Officials Placed Under Arrest By French Military Following Riot at Essen; Works Are Temporarily Closed; Frenchman Killed On Rhine Canal By French Shore Patrol.

Berlin, April 2.—Herr Schaffer, director-general of the Krupp plant, asserts that the four directors arrested yesterday on charges of inciting last Saturday's shooting were in no way responsible for the trouble. The French allege that the blowing of the sirens at the works, which excited the men, could have been stopped by the officials, even if they had not ordered the signal.

Herr Schaffer points out that it is customary for the men to blow the sirens "as a fire signal or when there is sign of danger of any kind."

Hartwig, Oesterlin, Ritter and Bruhn, the directors held, were arrested at their homes early Easter.

The Krupp plant is to be closed at least until Wednesday.

Inciting Placards.
Berlin, April 2.—The Communist newspaper Rote Fahne, referring to the disturbance at the Krupp plant last Saturday, which resulted in the death of nine Germans and the wounding of 34 others, says for several weeks past the walls and workshops of the plant had been covered with German-Nationalist placards.

The dispatch continues: "Immediately on learning of the arrival of French troops at the works a number of Nationalists incited the workmen to resist and urged them not to allow any soldier to leave the plant alive."

Patrol Excited.
Buer, Germany, April 2.—One member of a party of Frenchmen travelling in a motor boat along the Rhine canal near Buer-Eric yesterday, was shot and killed by the French shore patrol, say advices received here.

It is asserted that the boat, which was flying the German flag, did not heed the patrol's command to halt. The patrol is said not to have ascertained that the occupants of the boat were Frenchmen until after the craft had been fired on.

THIRTY BREAK LIMERICK JAIL THROUGH TUNNEL

Dublin, April 2.—Thirty prisoners escaped from Limerick Jail Saturday by means of a tunnel. Two of them were recaptured.

Miss Mary Macswiney was arrested again on Thursday but was released Saturday.

HOLLY DISCOVERY MAY BRING BIG INDUSTRY HERE

Yale Scientist Finds Leaf Contains More Protein Than Corn or Wheat

Establishment of a big new food industry in Victoria is foreseen by local horticulturists as the result of the discoveries just announced by Stephen M. Hoyer, Yale scientist and chemist, that the leaf of the holly is far richer in food values than any food cereals now used.

The plan would be to establish a factory for treating holly leaves here and turn them out as a special food for men and animals just as shredded wheat and corn flakes made from grain and vint and things like that are produced from wheat and corn.

Possibilities of holly production here are almost unlimited, the horticulturists explain. The Southern Vancouver Island is one of the few places on this continent where holly flourishes.

At the present time holly-leaves go to ruin, except for the small amount used in Christmas wreaths; and even these are thrown away around the first of the year. Nobody, man or animal, finds it convenient to use them as food, for the very good reason that they are edged with prickly and sharp thorns. And Mr. Hoyer has found a way of eliminating the thorn and getting at the tremendously large amount of food materials which, he declares, the holly leaf contains.

It all started, said Mr. Hoyer, one day in March of several years ago, when on the porch of his home he found a dried up holly wreath which he explained to his son, the Winter before. He was making all sorts of experiments at the time, attempting to extract alcohol from all sorts of plants, and it occurred to him to try the holly. He discovered that by putting the leaves through a percolating process and placing the remainder in a soda solution, he could obtain not alcohol, but liquid soap. Now, liquid soap indicates the presence of fat and fat means a high food value.

HOTEL GUESTS WERE AROUSED BY SMOKE

New York, April 2.—Fifteen hundred guests of the Great Northern Hotel, near Central Park, were aroused early to-day by dense clouds of smoke that filled the building from a fire in the basement. Many of the guests rushed down stairs in their night attire.

Hotel employees and firemen manned the elevators and assured other guests that there was no danger. The damage was nominal.

FORMER SULTAN TO DENY ABDICATION

London, April 2.—A dispatch to The Times from Constantinople says Turkish circles have learned that former Sultan Mohammed VI, who at present is a guest of King Hussein, at Mecca, shortly will issue a proclamation to the Moslem world asserting that he has not abdicated either the Caliphate or the Sultanate. The proclamation will denounce the Ankara Government and claim of allegiance for Hussein of all the faithful.

The actual separation is over two weeks old, he declares, "but the secret has been well kept."

The ex-emperor's life is reported to be very solitary and his establishment very simple, for although his private means are still ample they are not under his control.

In the article the ex-emperor is described as "one of the most tragic figures in Europe to-day."

Canada Has No Fear of Americanization

New York Herald on Canada's National Ideals

New York, April 2.—(Canadian Press).—Commenting on the alarm expressed by Canadian writers regarding the circulation throughout the Dominion of United States periodicals and to the recent debate at Ottawa on the same subject, The Herald to-day asserts that those who fear the "Americanization of Canada" have no cause for

GERMANY ADMITS SUSSEX TORPEDOED

Admission Follows Arrest of Otto Steinbrink

Special to The Times.
Berlin, April 2.—Germany finally has made full acknowledgment that the steamship Sussex was sunk by a German submarine, "ending the chapter of evasions on the incident, which almost brought the United States into the war in 1916 instead of a year later."
The admission was made in connection with the arrest by French troops at Düsseldorf of the submarine commander, Otto Steinbrink, who was on the list of war criminals and was charged with torpedoing the Sussex. To save Steinbrink the Germans now publish the verdict of the Federal Supreme Court of last December quashing proceedings against Steinbrink because "The Sussex was torpedoed by Lieut. Pustkuchon, commander of the submarine U-25, who fell in the Spring of 1917. Steinbrink, commander of the U-18, did not participate in any way in the sinking of the said ship."

Mine Story
It will be recalled that the German Admiralty vehemently and persistently denied that the Sussex was sunk by a German submarine, "ending the chapter of evasions on the incident, which almost brought the United States into the war in 1916 instead of a year later."
The admission was made in connection with the arrest by French troops at Düsseldorf of the submarine commander, Otto Steinbrink, who was on the list of war criminals

Mr. Hart has just completed an inspection of the industries which have had Government assistance, and expressed himself as well pleased. He found that since the beginning of the year conditions in almost every line have improved, and that those the department is interested in have been showing profitable operation since that period, and are keeping up with the advances made by the department's industries in Vancouver.

Value to Victoria.
In Victoria the Sidney Rubber and Roofing Co., in which the Government has a loan of $100,000, is distributing $250,000 a year in payroll and purchases in this city.

The Canada Western Woodworkers which was in operation here continuously during the hard times, is now operating successfully and making a profit.

The Western Abrasive Paper Co., another of the assisted companies here, is also showing a profit.

The Canada Western Cordage Co. of New Westminster, in which the Government has its largest loan, today reported to the increase in business by going on a double shift.

The Haynes Boiler and Engine Co., which has taken over the Schaake and allied plants, has paid the Government 20 per cent. of the purchase price in cash, and there is provision in the bargain for the full recovery of the amount of the Government's loan to the company and all charges in connection with it.

Walker Bros., of Hoquiam, Washington, who are at the head of extensive lumber interests to the south, the chief ones behind the purchase. They foresee an immediate period of rapid industrial expansion in British Columbia and are keen to get in on the ground floor now.

To Consolidate Plans
They will consolidate all three plants on Industrial Island, Vancouver, where the Schaake works are now located, and will double the capacity of the buildings there. Then they will invest $200,000 in new plant.

The works, which have been idle since both Schaake and Shore died about a year ago, will start operations this month. They will manufacture engines, forgings, saws and all mill machinery, boilers, bolts and spikes and machine tools of all kinds needed in the basic industries of this Province.

The Schaake works were established in New Westminster as the pioneer machine works of British Columbia. In 1917 the plant was moved to Industrial Island, Vancouver, and in 1920 the Government with loans through the Department of Industries got behind it to expand the industry.

ALBERTA DIVIDED ON LIQUOR QUESTION

Plebiscite Considered for Sale of Beer

Druggists Cannot Fill Doctors' Prescriptions

Special to The Times.
Edmonton, Alta., April 2.—Another veil has been stripped from the "Liquor for Medical Purposes Only" law that rules in Alberta. On Tuesday morning druggists no longer will be able to fill doctors' prescriptions calling for twenty-four ounces of real old port, hereafter in Edmonton and Calgary, a government vendor who never has studied the art of compounding prescriptions, will hand out the bottles to thirsty "patients."

An area averaging about ten miles beyond the city limits and including several suburban villages, is included in the new regulations, and now all those who hold doctors' prescriptions for liquor must travel to the heart of the city to get their bottle.

Definite Policy.
Members of the Legislature who visited their constituencies over the holiday recess, were told to get a line on public opinion in regard to the proposed beer plebiscite. It is expected that a caucus of government members will be held on Tuesday, when a definite line of policy will be framed. While it is known that opinion among the rank and file is divided, there is undoubtedly growing up a strong feeling that the best plan would be to legalize the sale of real beer by the bottle, and to continue to restrict the sale of hard liquors to doctors' prescriptions.

Referendum.
In any event, the question of a referendum will undoubtedly be one of the first to be raised after the Easter recess, and the vexed questions of whether there will be a referendum or not, and if there is one, whether it will be on the basis of the hotel men's beer petition, or will be widened in scope to admit of a vote on government sale and control will then be settled.

SAYS PARIS STYLES SPELL DOOM OF TURKISH HAREM

Not Even a Pasha Can Afford to Keep Four Wives in Such Dress

Face Covering to Go; Women's Freedom Looms Very Near

Grace Ellison, author of "An Englishwoman in a Turkish Harem," arrived in London recently from Ankara and announced that the Turks were giving up harems because of the dress reform and Paris fashions adopted by the women, which not even a Turkish Pasha can afford to provide for four wives.

"I had an interview with Mustafa Kemal Pasha, who said that all restrictions regarding women would be abolished in twelve months, when the veil will be a thing of the past," said Miss Ellison. "His bride does not wear one."

A Turkish officer was assigned to accompany Miss Ellison from Smyrna and she was advised to pose as an American. "No, if I can't go as an Englishwoman I won't go," declared the author. And she went.

Since the Turkish Nationalist Assembly retired beyond closed doors to hear what Ismet Pasha had to say about the Lausanne conference, dispatches from Ankara have contained much interesting information about that ancient city, which suggests primitive, or at least feudal, days.

Turks Await Their Fate.
While Mustafa Kemal Pasha and Ismet have been in almost continuous consultation, a crowd numbering several hundreds of persons have awaited the issue of the secret meeting of the Assembly, for well they realize that the future of their homeland hangs in the balance. "They stand and whisper patiently, undemonstrative after the manner of the Turks in such a crisis, waiting for the word that will tell them they are citizens of a new nation, on an equality with the world which has been greatly concerned over their destiny.

This new status they so earnestly desire was symbolized when Mme. Kemal, the leader's nineteen-year-old bride, stepped from the train that brought them here this week, for she was attired according to Western ideas of dress, appearing in riding breeches, high boots and spurs. The only Oriental touch to her costume was a brightly colored kerchief that confined her dark hair, but even this might have been an expression of the latest vogue from Paris, which her long tawny cloak suggested. It was evident at once that she wished to create the unmistakable impression that the Turkish women coveting the freedom of their Western sisters might count upon her hearty support, and thus she lent confirmation to her husband's recent utterances on the emancipation of the Turkish woman, who formerly wore the veil up to her eyes.

The influence of the West is not totally lacking in this makeshift capital, for besides manifestations to be found in the dress of the Turks visiting it there are other visitors.

Satisfied Prisoner.
One of the latter is a man who wears a Palmor bonnet of Scotland. He is Private William McCartney of the First Battalion of the King's Own Scottish Borderers, whose home is in Dumfries. He was the mechanic of a British airplane, which owing to a heavy fog made a forced landing within the Turkish lines near Chanak on the Dardanelles last December 11. He and his pilot lieutenant were taken prisoner.

Five weeks ago he was transferred to Ankara, where he shares a billet in a ramshackle house in the old quarter of the town with Turk soldiers. McCartney's fellows are sergeants, as well as his guards, but he partakes of the same rations as they and finds it entirely to his liking, for he has no labor to perform. Every afternoon he is privileged to go for a stroll in company with two Moslem gendarmes.

"I'm having a lovely time," he says. "Several of the Turks speak a little English and we can understand one another very well. When we were at Balmorich at Christmas the staff captain gave us a Christmas tree decorated in red, white and blue for Britain."

Private McCartney has applied to the Turkish Minister of War for permission to work at his trade, which is that of an automobile mechanic, in the Ankara motor works. He

C.C.M. Riders are proud of their Mounts

THERE is one thing very noticeable among riders of C. C. M. Bicycles. They are proud of their mounts.

A C. C. M. owner looks upon his Bicycle with a feeling akin to affection.

It is not just the sparkling beauty of the glossy enameling, nor the brightness of the nickeling, nor the trim, racy lines that causes this friendly feeling.

It Is Something Deeper

It is the genuine quality of the bicycle—the quality that is more than surface deep—the quality that rings true day in and day out, year after year—the quality that gives you thousands of extra miles of quiet, smooth, easy riding.

When you buy a C. C. M. Bicycle you become the possessor of as perfect a piece of bicycle mechanism as is produced anywhere in the world—a bicycle built of the finest materials with all the skill and precision gained during a quarter-century of high-class manufacturing experience.

The Hidden Quality

You cannot judge with your naked eye the quality of these materials, nor the accuracy of the workmanship, any more than you can see the high-class copper under the bright nickeling; or the coat of anti-rust that is first put on the C. C. M. frames before they are given their coats of lustrous enameling. Or the heat-treated special Automobile steel of the bearings, so hard on the outside a file won't cut them, yet with a core so tough the bearings are practically unbreakable.

But it is this unseen quality that gives the extra years of easy riding—the extra mileage—the extra satisfaction—and causes that feeling of pride and affection C. C. M. owners have for their mounts—a feeling which less fortunate owners of ordinary bicycles never experience.

The New Models

Ask the C. C. M. dealer to show you the new 1923 models. They are made of English Seamless Tubing, and equipped with the C. C. M. Triplex Hanger, the new Gibson Aluminum-frame Pedal, and the Hercules Coaster Brake, without extra charge. And selling today at $15 to $20 less than "peak" prices. Right down to rock bottom for a quality bicycle.

COPYRIGHT ACT TO BE AMENDED

Question Agitated Writers and Publishers for Years

Toronto, April 2.—"Ideal for the author, but a stiff blow at the printing and allied trades," is the way one publisher sized up Bill 24, now before the House of Commons to amend the Copyright Act of 1911. The question of Canada's Copyright Act is one which has been agitating some writers, printers and publishers for some years, and now that there is a definite proposal before the Commons that Canada should come into the Berne convention, the proposition is meeting with much opposition, chiefly from the printing trades. As the amending bill now stands, it would appear that it is not pleasing either to the printers or to the publishers as a whole, although there are some publishers who have declared in favor of it.

At present, according to the Copyright Act, which preceded that of 1911, and under which copyrights are now obtained—the act of 1911 having been passed but not proclaimed—Canadian books, when first published in the United States, must be set up and reprinted in Canada before a Canadian copyright can be obtained. Under Bill 24, the necessary conditions for Canadian works being set up in Canada, is struck out. That is the point which has occasioned the printing trades to send strong representations to Ottawa, to point out that they would suffer greatly under the proposed legislation, and to call the attention of the Government to the fact that it would mean the loss of a great deal of the printing which is now done in Canada would be done across the line. Their representation is that the blow would be a stiff one, not only to the printing trades, but to the bookbinders, paper manufacturers, and all those allied trades in Canada which contribute anything toward the manufacture of books in this country. Accordingly, they are putting up a strong campaign against the passing of Bill 24.

The Canadian printers are asking that the amendments be such as to provide:

1. That Canadian printers and publishers of books may secure from the author the permission to print in Canada upon payment of per cent of royalties now larger than the author is receiving in any other country.
2. That Canadian printers and publishers of magazines may secure from the author short story rights on any copyrighted matter published elsewhere, or serial rights in any matter published serially elsewhere, on payment of a royalty which, calculated on the basis of circulation, is equal to the highest royalty received by the author from any foreign magazine.

This, it is claimed, would safeguard the author's right absolutely, while extending the printing industry an opportunity to secure a great deal of work now performed by foreign labor.

But Bill 24 seeks to eliminate the manufacturing clauses in the Act of 1911, and in this connection Mr. Dan Rose, president of the Canadian Copyright Association, points out that the retention of the printing clause would cause a large number of books now printed in the United States and sent into Canada to be manufactured in Canada for employment to papermakers, bookbinders, printers and kindred trades. It would, he adds, make the Canadian publisher a more important figure, independent of the United States publisher, who now really controls the Canadian market.

"Bill 24, now before Parliament, to amend the Copyright Act of 1911, would not improve the author's position," he states, "but it does secure to the United States publisher, his printers and his importers, the Canadian market, and deprives the Canadian workmen of work that can be done with equal advantage in Canada."

The supply of books for readers in Canada is not greater, further than that the reader will have to accept United States editions in place of Canadian editions."

While Bill 24, as it now stands, has stirred up a storm of protest from the printers, it is in one respect no more pleasing to that type of Canadian publisher who has been in the habit of printing in Canada the past instead of importing from the States. This publisher states that if the manufacturing clause is to be removed from the Copyright Act, or if Canada is to come under the Berne Convention, he must have some guarantee of protection on his Canadian copyright. And until such a clause is inserted in the act, he will not be satisfied. Without such a clause, it is contended, the Canadian publishing business would be in danger of ruin.

Bill 24, if passed, means that books copyrighted in the United States are automatically copyrighted in Canada. That means, in turn, that any publisher who imports books from an American publisher, would not be protected on copyright and that retailers and all sorts of jobbers could go into competition with him for the distribution of one or any number of books in this country. What he demands is that when he takes up the distribution of a book, he should be protected by being given the sole right of distribution.

WILL TEST ALBERTA COAL IN ONTARIO

Toronto, April 2.—Premier Drury of Ontario announced Saturday that his Government was bringing three carloads of coal from Alberta to test it and in the event of it being found satisfactory as a substitute for United States anthracite, the Canadian National Railways would be asked to give a special rate of $6 a ton to haul coal from Alberta to Ontario. The suggestion that coal could be freighted to Ontario by the train load at $5 a ton with profit, to the railway companies from the Alberta Government with whom the Ontario premier is negotiating.

"I have more hope for relief from Alberta coal fields than I have either from peat or coal from the east," said Premier Drury. "The freight rates are the main difficulty. The coal brought from Alberta will be tested by our engineers. If it is satisfactory, representatives from the Alberta Government and the Ontario Government will approach Sir Henry Thornton as to the feasibility of a six dollar freight rate which will allow the Alberta coal to be placed on the market here at a price that will make the venture practicable."

AUGUST THYSSEN, GERMAN MAGNATE, IS HARD WORKER

Hamborn, Germany, April 2.—Unemployment may rule in the Ruhr, miners be idle and railroad men on strike, bricklayers working half time and jewelers not at all, but there is one man who works on forever.

His name is August Thyssen, aged 51, founder of the steel dynasty bearing his name. Promptly at the stroke of eight the venerable old man is at his desk. Eleven at night very often finds him still at work. This steel man is indeed a man of steel.

Personally, twice a day, he visits one or the other of his large plants, either at Hamborn, Mulheim, Duisburg, Dinslaken or Dusseldorf. Tall and gaunt, walking with a brisk, springy step for one so advanced in years, stopping here and there to exchange a word with some of the veteran employees in his service, his progress through the works seems to assume the sacredness of a rite.

Frugal and modest, this millionaire spends less for his personal upkeep than many of his yard bosses or section foremen.

VICEROY WARNS INDIA AGAINST DISORDERS

Calcutta, April 2.—England will all be resources of the possible disorder in India, Lord Reading, the Viceroy, told his audience during an address delivered here recently before The Associated Chambers of Commerce of India. He was referring specifically to the resolutions adopted by the Indian National Congress at Gaya, one of which was to effect the withdrawal of the legislative council should be continued. The Viceroy held that these resolutions did not voice the real sentiment of India, and said that the Government was prepared to put down any disorder which might arise.

"Those who have India's interests at heart," he continued, "cannot but deeply deplore the unfortunate resolutions recorded at Gaya. I shall not dwell on them for I do not believe that in these resolutions I hear a faint echo of the real voice of India or of those who serve her truly. I will not attach too great importance to these threats. A vigilant watch will, however, be kept on these preparations, and I can give you my assurance that my Government will use all its resources to combat and quell the forces of disorder should they become manifest. I know that, if there should be need, I can look with confidence to the support of all responsible opinion in this task."

ESKIMOS SAY GHOSTS HOLD NIGHTLY REVELS

Anchorage, Alaska, April 2.—Some natives of Alaska profess to believe that the angry spirits of the Aleuts massacred at the behest of the early Russian discoverers and traders under Shelikoff, Baranoff and Chirikoff, are haunting the valleys of the Valley of Ten Thousand Smokes.

Beneath the thin crust of the earth covering the lower Alaska peninsula, the Aleutian archipelago, these spirits, the natives assert, are holding nightly revels and emerging periodically to hurl fire, smoke and thunder at the heads of the invaders. The fanciful recital of the natives is that on Chirikoff Island, long famed as haunted, a half hundred natives were lured into a log compound, set upon by savage enemies under direction of the Russians, murdered and despoiled of priceless sea otter skins. Their spirits are appearing again in protest of the eruption of three volcanoes in January is, they say, a re-visitation of these spirits, and will continue until they are avenged.

For many years Chirikoff Island has been a place seldom inhabited by natives or whites. Many harrowing tales from Chirikoff were brought here by Captain Nick Galkema, who has visited almost every nook and harbor along the Aleutians. Last Summer the skipper braved the Valley of Smokes, emerging with the shoes burned from his feet, and with many stories to tell.

HON. JOHN KAINE DIES IN QUEBEC

Quebec, April 2.—Hon. John C. Kaine, member of the Legislative Council for Stadacona Division and Minister without portfolio in the Taschereau Cabinet died here yesterday aged 68. Mr. Kaine's death had been expected for some time. Mr. Kaine was prominent in the commercial and political life of this city for many years.

Besides his widow, he is survived by two sons, Bernard J. Kaine, inspector of lighthouses in the Marine and Fisheries Department, and Mark H. Kaine, lumber merchant.

APPEALS FOR MEN TO HELP TRAINING OF BOY SCOUTS

Sir Robert and Lady Baden-Powell Speakers in Ottawa

Ottawa, April 2.—(By Canadian Press)—The advantage of taking the girl and the boy at an impressionable age and imbuing them with ideals and ambitions which make for honor, citizenship, were dwelt upon by Sir Robert and Lady Baden-Powell here Saturday when they were guests of honor at a joint luncheon at the Women's Canadian Club and the Canadian Club of Ottawa.

Lady Baden-Powell spoke of the Girl Guides who, she said, had a world membership of 400,000.

Since there were more girls in the world than boys, there was vast work for women in taking these wives and mothers of the future and showing a vision of usefulness where they thought of others rather than themselves. In training girls, the great need was to interest them in useful activities in order to counteract the drifting habit. The Society of Girl Guides, said Lady Baden-Powell, had in mind several great principles—honor and resourcefulness; developing the girls' inherent talents; health and hygiene—health of mind and health of body; personal service for the rest of the community.

An appreciation of honor, truthfulness and decency, said Sir Robert Baden-Powell, was at the root of the great Scout movement—it was a movement which appealed to boys of all classes. As a matter of fact, the Boy Scout movement was essentially that which made for good citizenship in boys of all ages, young as well as old. Many of the boys who would come to Canada later on would be found to be finer Canadians because, through association through the Boy Scout movement, they had come to appreciate the value of honor and of honorable intercourse between man and man. Some of these boys were destined to become noted figures in Canadian history, and therefore it was most essential that they should come to Canada imbued with the finer ideals.

Sir Robert said there was a need for more men to take up the work of training Boy Scouts. He appealed for a larger portion of the community in taking part in the work of turning out straight, clean living, strong minded, trustworthy citizens of the future. There was need, he said, for more men to take the boys in hand at the anxious moment of their lives, at the moment when they take the turn definitely for good or for evil. A pat on the back, a little human sympathy, he asserted, was something which might influence their whole future lives. Let the boy of to-day be taught the habit of playing his game cleanly, fairly and squarely.

From then on the experimenting continued on the food instead of the alcohol line. And this is what the experiments revealed:

That the average holly leaf contains more protein to the pound than oats, barley, corn, rye or wheat.

That it contains about seven times as much as wheat, two and a half times as much as oats, eight times as much as barley and two and a half times as much as corn.

Vacuum Process.

And that the leaves could be put through a simple and inexpensive vacuum process which would leave them in the form of a sort of cereal food which would be eagerly devoured by animals—and they would grow fat on it.

In addition, Mr. Hoye declares that he developed certain by-products in the form of medical and food products, which may turn out in the end even more valuable than the feed.

But this feed he considers of very great importance. An analysis made by George W. Cavanaugh, head of the State Agricultural College at Cornell University and one of the foremost chemists of the State, says the holly contains the following: Proteins, 14.56 per cent; fats, 13.56 per cent; moisture, 24.36 per cent; ash, 4 per cent. This compares favorably with the most popular feeds, which have on the average the following: Oats, 11.8 per cent proteins and 5 per cent fats; barley, 12.4 per cent proteins and 13 per cent fats; corn, 10.5 per cent proteins and 5 per cent fats; rye, 10.5 per cent proteins and 1.7 per cent fats; and wheat, proteins 12 per cent and fats 2 per cent. All this food material has previously been ignored, says Mr. Hoye, because of the inconvertible thorn. Now, however, with the thorn eliminated, nothing remains, says Mr. Hoye, except to gather the leaves and feed the world.

"I have fed it," he declares, "to chickens, ducks, rabbits, cows and horses, and they all eat it up and grow fat on it."

Tons Go to Waste.

There are thousands and thousands of acres of holly in the United States alone. There are about a billion tons of holly leaves going to waste here each year. That's a wealth of at least $1,000,000,000 that could be put to use.

"And that's only in the United States. Think of the billions and billions of tons in the rest of the world. Think of the holly in England, Scotland, Ireland and on the Continent in Europe."

In addition to all this, Mr. Hoye believes that the holly leaf is still an untapped source of other products. He has already extracted various juices for medicinal purposes. He has made holly leaf tablets of concentrated food, each a luncheon in parvo. And he believes, there is much more to come.

"The rest of my life," he said, "I will spend trying to get things out of this mysterious holly leaf. No body knows for example, what is in the thorn of the holly. And nobody yet knows everything that is in this leaf."

Shakespeare's "Julius Caesar" will be staged by the matriculation organization of the Victoria High School on April 20 and 21. Rehearsals have been carried on during the past few weeks under the able direction of Ira Dilworth.

GLASGOW WELCOMES CANADIAN STEERS

Official Reception to First Shipment of Store Cattle

Importation Unlikely to Affect Home Prices

London, April 2.—(Canadian Press Cable)—Glasgow Corporation is extending an official reception to the first shipment of Canada's store cattle, the ship the lifting of the embargo. Invitations to attend the landing have been broadcast by the market committee. The committee is hoping that the shipment, which is now nearing Glasgow, will be the first to arrive in Great Britain.

Critics are unanimous in the opinion that the new trade will have a very slight, if any effect on meat prices for a considerable time.

GRUESOME FIND BY EASTER PARADERS

Toronto, April 2.—One of the Easter paraders at Sunnyside Beach yesterday found a man's hand protruding out of the sand, near the edge of the beach. The investigation by police, which followed, revealed a body fully clothed lying face downward with all four limbs outstretched.

When the body was dislodged from its bed in the sand and ice, it was removed to the morgue on a motor truck still incased in about 300 pounds of ice. A signet ring bearing the initials "E.A." or "E.G." was found on the body and may lead to identification.

THE MOTOR PRINCESS.

To travellers from far and near the "Princesses" of the Canadian Pacific Railway Company's magnificent coastwise fleet have become significant and important items in the consideration of all holiday itineraries. Many and varied have been the compliments paid to the company in respect of a service which would be difficult to surpass or equal in any other part of the world. The addition of a new member to this "royal" family is therefore a matter for all round congratulation.

It was a happy thought that guided the company to the selection of "Motor Princess" as the name for the excellent and spacious craft which slid into the water at Yarrow on Saturday. It imparts just the necessary distinction and enables the vessel's especial character to be understood without departing from the root principle which has been followed at the many christenings that have gone before. The new ferry will be of the "blood royal" and just as dignified and important as if her cognomen were the christian and not the surname.

Saturday's ceremony is the preliminary to an exceedingly busy season in motor travel to and from Vancouver Island. It represents the Canadian Pacific Railway Company's interpretation of the needs of the times. Its practical illustration of its faith in the prospect of business ought to be good enough for the people of this community. The C. P. R. always looks before it leaps. Its example in this instance should be more generously followed by our own citizens.

BUILDING ACTIVITY BRISK.

Building construction in various forms that is either going on in this Province at the present time or is about to be commenced in the early future is estimated to represent a capital expenditure of nearly $23,000,000.

When this figure is considered in conjunction with numerous movements that usually precede a more generous flow of capital one may safely rely upon the general prediction that this Province has taken the last hurdle in the difficult course which the war and its after effects shaped for it in common with the rest of the Provinces of the Dominion.

Nearly every day a cable from London announces new interest in the possibilities for investment and development in British Columbia. Several mining properties have been acquired by British capitalists recently and a better knowledge of our natural resources must bear fruit in the near future.

It goes without saying that if British Columbians themselves would be a little more prodigal with their own faith in themselves and their natural possessions outside capital would flow quicker and in larger volume.

REDUCING SPEED.

Legislation looking towards the reduction of accident risk in the motoring world very naturally takes on new importance every time statistics are published relating to the number of automobiles there are in the country. Happily for Canada speed laws are generally well obeyed and the loss of life and property is nothing like as serious in proportion as it is in the United States. None the less the increased capacity for speed which one associates, rightly or wrongly, with each new model brings the question of restrictive measures to the fore.

More than 12,000 persons lost their lives in the United States last year through automobile accidents. These fatalities almost equal those of a year in the civil war. New York led the list with 785 deaths, without including those for the month of December. Chicago held second place in this alarming record with 736, and Los Angeles came in third with 321. In Detroit also there were 146 auto fatalities. Last year's list of deaths from automobile accidents in Toronto stands at fifty-four—which is rather worse than usual—and prompts The Toronto Star to comment in part as follows:

There is a growing determination in the city to make the streets safer for the people, and much thought is being given to methods by which it can be done. If the conclusion is reached that the speed limit for cars should be reduced, it will be done. If it is decided that all who drive cars should be tested as to their fitness, mental and physical, to drive cars through crowded streets, the trouble that this would entail will not prevent its being done.

It is obvious that there are too many fatalities and too many injuries. Lack of thought and care and too much hurry when there is no need for it form a dangerous combination for motorist and pedestrian alike. Carelessness and an innocent belief that nothing is going to happen are natural enough; but even the most skilful and careful driver have found themselves wrong side up in some cases. And when it comes to pure holiday travel in motor cars it would seem to be much more reasonable to take it easy and see the country. The exhilaration afforded by a vacation spent on an automobile tour should spring from the leisurely movement which this form of locomotion provides.

SIR HENRY NEWBOLT'S CRITICS.

When all the controversy which has very naturally arisen over the references which the B. C. University organ made to Sir Henry Newbolt has subsided it will be fairly safe to assume that the central figure has neither heard nor seen anything of it. Should it turn out that his attention has been called to this most unfortunate and regrettable incident it can be taken for granted that he will experience just a little regret that the mental equipment of the young people who felt it their duty to take him to task was not equal to the grasping of those finer instincts which prompted the remarks which seem to have resulted in crossed wires. Meanwhile the editorial mind which controls "Ubssey" should drop the subject and remember that student life at a University of British Columbia is only possible because the average citizen goes down in his pockets and pays the bill. That average citizen welcomed Sir Henry Newbolt and would double the warmth of the welcome if he should come to the Province again to-morrow. In this there should be a lesson for the young men of the provincial institution.

THE HALF WAY HOUSE.

Inviting the people of this continent to stay at this or that hotel when they visit the other side of the Atlantic is a recognized effective means of obtaining custom. But the appearance of an advertisement of one of London's most famous hostels in the larger newspapers of this Province is a recognition of the importance of British Columbia as the half-way house for travellers from the Antipodes and the Orient. The hotel in question has only to study last Saturday's arrivals by the Niagara to realize that it is using the best medium when it uses the press of this Province for its appeal. During the period of rest in Victoria and Vancouver the inbound passenger fills in the details of current events that have reached him through the ether when aboard ship. And even in these days of pre-arranged travel the hotel through the newspaper advertisement is bound to get a larger share of business. And one point in the case referred to is the evidence of better Empire knowledge in a geographical sense. Many people on the other side of the Atlantic still believe that Victoria is in Vancouver. Some have addressed letters to Vancouver, Alberta.

NOTE AND COMMENT

Ottawa had snow for Easter. Victoria had sunshine and warm weather.

Moscow has withheld the order for the death penalty for Vice-General Butchkevitch. It will make a bad break if it goes through with the ghastly business.

Montreal is desirous of enlisting the services of men who are ready to do almost anything to crush down vice in that city. Surely the authorities in the commercial capital of the East do not require any Ku-Klux-Klan prodding to urge them in the right direction.

A Cambridge University golfer has just completed a moonlight round of 66 by the aid of candles fixed at the top of each flag on the green. We venture to suggest that the average devotee of the royal and ancient in Victoria would prefer sunshine to moonshine.

Unemployment in British Columbia is getting less all the time. All of which suggests that things are improving in every way. Just a little more optimism and more practical faith by our own people are all that is wanted.

Those qualified electors in British Columbia who failed to exercise their franchise at the last provincial election were automatically erased from the electoral roll. It will be necessary for them to register again on or before April 9. Unless they do so it will not be possible for them to vote in the event of an election for the local Legislature.

OUR CONTEMPORARIES

THE ORIENTAL PROBLEM.

Natal Advertiser, South Africa:—An increasing number of natives and Indians are yearly being caught up in the web and woof of our European life, habits and environment, and to suggest that in the future, separate legislation will meet their requirements and preserve them, either contentedly or otherwise, in a perpetual representation of subjection to white rule, is to misread all history.

LET THEM TALK.

Brandon Sun:—From the government point of view the King adherents may content themselves to sit back and look and listen. They know they cannot stay the speeches and will likely allow the full range of western Progressives to do what they wish to do in the way of talking for publication. The westerners are a loquacious lot and are actually less dangerous if allowed to do most of the talking.

SUGAR SPECULATORS.

Halifax Chronicle:—The speculative movement in sugar continues with the resultant effect that the price of this staple commodity is being forced up by leaps and bounds. All this has been done on the plea that there is a shortage of sugar, when the facts are absolutely to the contrary. The experience of the last attempt to manipulate the sugar market, which proved so disastrous to those who were engaged in it, and demonstrated the falsity of the claim as to the shortage, should have taught the speculators as it taught the public a lesson.

A SHOCK COMING.

Calgary Herald:—The government has permitted the information to go out in advance of the budget that it is facing a large deficit. It is estimated that the deficit may run to as high as $1,700,000. In this fashion the government is preparing the province for the disappointment in store for it and probably for a new array of taxes. The province will look to Premier Greenfield to be very frank and detailed in his explanation of this deficit. The people were led to believe that a principal purpose in selecting a farmer-government was to secure an administration prepared to plan drastic economies, and capable of putting them into effect. It begins to look as though that faith has been misplaced.

Other People's Views

Letters addressed to the Editor and intended for publication must be short and legibly written. The longer an article the shorter the chance of its being published. THE P.C.E. AND MOTOR HIGHWAY.

To the Editor:—If your article in Friday's "Times" could be taken as foreshadowing the policy of the Government in connection with the P.C.E. the country could be congratulated upon the adoption of a policy which would convert what promises to be a continuous charge and heavy loss into what might eventually prove to be a great asset.

The saving to be effected by ceasing to operate and maintain the line, so say nothing of the cost of completion and equipment, should be sufficient to carry out your suggestion of utilizing the roadbed for a motor highway, which will bring the coast into direct connection with existing highways such as the road over Pavilion Mountain to Clinton and thence on by the old Cariboo Road to Quesnel, Barkerville and Port George, also from Lillooet through the Marble Canon to the valley of the Bounaparte and Ashcroft, thence eastward to Kamloops, Vernon, Penticton and the international boundary, connecting with the roads in Washington.

If this policy included, as it should, the extension of the Island Highway to Buttle Lake and Port Campbell, then British Columbia could boast of possessing a system of motor highways offering to the tourist one of the finest scenic routes on the continent, besides serving many of the purposes for which a railway is designed, and a start made upon the plan so ably advocated recently by Mr. Lineham.

B. C. TEACHERS HOLD CONVENTION

Extensive Programme Arranged for Meeting This Week

A large number of the school teachers of Victoria and vicinity will attend the fourth annual convention of the B. C. Teachers' Federation which is to be held in Vancouver on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday. The headquarters of the convention will be at the Grosvenor Hotel, and the sessions at the King Edward High School.

The comprehensive business and social programme has been arranged for the three days. One of the chief speakers will be Dr. Suzzillo, President of the University of Washington, who will give a number of addresses on educational topics. Members of the University staff will also take part. Dean Quainton will speak at the opening session on "The Spiritual Factor in Education." Dr. D. B. Waldo, President of the Ballingham State Normal School, will discuss "Preparation for Efficient Teaching." Among those from Victoria who will take part will be V. L. Denton, H. S. Hurn, B. S. Freeman, Mrs. Lashley Hall and Miss M. May. Miss K. Scanlon of the Victoria Model School will act as chairman of the rural school section. "The Place of Home Economics in a Modern School System" will be dealt with by Miss Edith Raitt, head of the Department of Home Economics in the University of Washington.

The general arrangements are under the care of H. G. Lester and Harry Charlsworth, President and Secretary respectively of the Teachers' Federation.

Rev. F. A. P. Chadwick Welcomes Club Associates at Evensong

A special service for Rotarians was held Sunday evening in St. John's Church by the rector, Rev. F. A. P. Chadwick. The edifice was beautifully decorated and there was a large attendance, both of the general public and of the members of Rotary. Special music was rendered by the choir.

Mr. Chadwick took his text from St. Matthew: "And the angel answered and said, Fear not ye; for I know that ye seek Jesus who was crucified. He is not here, for He has risen as He said. Come, see the place where the Lord lay."

That the tomb was built in the solid rock, said the preacher, was an evidence of the reality of the Resurrection. The door was a huge, circular stone rolled into place, but the women found it rolled away. The grave clothes in the tomb were also another most interesting evidence of the reality of the Resurrection. The tomb belonged to Joseph of Arimathea, and the fact that this man had so devoted this beautiful tomb was an inspiration to Christians and business men to devote their means and time to the service of the church.

WALT HAGEN ROUNDS OUT WONDERFUL YEAR
By Winning North and South Title He Has Picked Off All Main Events

New York, April 2.—Walter Hagen, British open golf champion, has clinched his recognition as the most spectacular performer in the game as the result of a Winter and Spring campaign which he has carried on from one peak of brilliancy to another.

The dazzling Walter's victory in the North and South open championships Saturday at Pinehurst capped the climax of his record exhibition tour.

CANADA ABLE TO FINANCE OWN LOANS

Toronto, April 2.—Under the caption "Canada Can Finance to Advantage at Home," The Globe says to-day:

"A good many New York bankers have come to the conclusion that Canada is in a position to finance many of her own loans and to do it more economically than they can be handled in the United States, writes the financial editor of The New York Times. The award of $5,000,000 five per cent Province of Quebec bonds was accepted as fair evidence. The bonds were awarded at such a figure that the four Canadian banks which received them can not well sell them to yield more than five per cent although Canadian bonds floated recently in New York have yielded about 5.20 per cent. Some of the New York bankers who were in the competition, said that it would have been out of the question to pay for the bonds what the Canadian bankers offered, $4.925."

NEWS IN BRIEF

The floral design of lilies symbolic of Easter is published in Saturday's issue of The Times was the work of the Diggon Printing Company, Ltd.

The usual monthly meeting of the Friendly Help Society will be held on Thursday at 10.30 in the Market Building, the change being made from Tuesday owing to the holidays.

P. Z. Caverhill, Chief Forester of the Province, will be heard in address to the Kiwanis Club at the regular luncheon to-morrow. The function will open at the Dominion Hotel at 12.10 o'clock. Forestry will be the subject of the address.

Grise fishing continues in the Saanich Arm with numerous large catches reported over the week end. One Victorian returned with 27 fish for his morning's trolling on Saturday. The fish are taking freely, and spring salmon are beginning to enter into the run. Herring have been reported in numbers by those trolling for grise.

The Boys' Naval Brigade were the hosts at a banquet in the petty officers' mess on Saturday in honor of Chief Petty Officer Richardson and D. O. Ellis, members of the Vancouver Brigade; Petty Officer Thacker, of the Victoria Brigade, and Petty Officer Simpson, of the Port Haney Brigade, who are shortly leaving as cadets in the merchant service. A splendid programme of toasts and musical numbers was given, followed by charades.

Rev. H. T. Archibald conducted a most successful mission in Kamloops last week, the services closing on Good Friday. The mission was held in St. Paul's Anglican Church, being attended by large congregations including over two hundred children at the special service. On Wednesday afternoon Mr. Archibald addressed the Kamloops Rotary Club on social hygiene and in the afternoon he visited the Royal Inland Hospital and chatted with a number of the patients. Mr. Archibald is secretary of the Vancouver Island Council for Social Hygiene.

The social and dance held under the auspices of the Victoria Quilting Club on Thursday night proved one of the most popular Scottish dances of the season. Forty couples took the floor for the grand march to the strains of the bagpipes, ably played by Master P. Alexander. Dancing was enjoyed until one o'clock. Great praise is due to musicians D. McCaig and J. McDonald, accordians, and A. Mackie, violinist. Songs were contributed by J. Jeffrey, T. Rhodes, D. Sloan and J. Ramsay. Another social and dance will be held in the near future.

A very enjoyable Scottish concert in which a number of popular artists took part was held in Marjold Hall on Saturday evening under the able co-operation of Mrs. Dobson. The audience was enthusiastic, demanding an encore to each number. Refreshments were served after the conclusion of the concert and dancing was indulged in until nearly midnight. An aluminum cascade which was raffled was won by Mr. Robertshaw. Mr. James Dewar was chairman for the evening and moved a hearty vote of thanks to the artists who had so kindly given their services on the occasion. The proceeds of the evening will go towards paying off the debt on the hall.

OBITUARY RECORD

There passed away after a very short illness at the family residence, 1654 Southgate Street, yesterday afternoon, Jennie E. Smith, beloved wife of H. H. Smith, traveller for E. G. Prior & Co. The late Mrs. Smith was born in St. John, New Brunswick, 35 years ago, and had been a resident of this city for the past thirteen years. She leaves to mourn her loss her husband, one son, H. Gordon Smith, of Vancouver; one daughter, Mrs. W. J. Bennett, of Nelson, B. C.; and one brother, A. H. Smith, of Alameda, California. She had many friends in this city and will be missed by all who knew her. The funeral services will be held at the Ross Bay Cemetery. Time of funeral will be announced later.

The funeral of Baby Albert Leslie Greston, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel J. Greston, of 319 Wilson Street, took place Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the St. Andrew's Church. The Rev. G. H. Andrews officiated. The little casket was hidden beneath beautiful flowers. Interment was made at Ross Bay Cemetery.

Service over the remains of Mrs. Nora Annie Chipp, who passed away in this city last Sunday, was held Saturday afternoon in the B. C. 2 Funeral Chapel by the Rev. N. E. Smith. Many floral tributes covered the casket and hearse. The hymns sung were "Lead, Kindly Light" and "Abide With Me." The following acted as pallbearers: W. F. Bassett, J. H. Elliott, A. Purditt and N. R. Foxgard. The remains were laid to rest in Ross Bay Cemetery.

The funeral of the late Alexander Ferguson, who passed away at the family residence, 2384 Hamilton Street, Oak Bay, on Thursday morning, took place Saturday morning at 10 o'clock from the St. Andrew's Church. The service was conducted by Rev. W. G. Wilson, D. D., during which the hymn "Lead, Kindly Light" was sung. The remains were laid to rest in Ross Bay Cemetery. The following acted as pallbearers: J. E. Jeffrey, P. L. James, A. N. Mous, C. P. L. Pearson, R. Worlock and R. W. Mayhew.

DR. OSTERHOUT HERE.

The Japanese and Chinese Mission Bands and Circle in connection with the Oriental Home and School will give their Easter concert at the Chinese Methodist Mission, 528 Esplanade Street, on Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock. The programme promises to be of its usual excellence. Dr. S. E. Osterhout presiding.

TO HOLD FROLIC.

Esquimalt Liberal Association will hold a frolic at the Rex Theatre on Thursday. F. Carlow will be master of ceremonies and the Liberal orchestra will be in attendance.

SPICERS IS FIVE UP OVER SCHWENGERS IN GOLF FINALS

Seattle Man Has Big Lead in Morning Play

Bernard P. Schwengers, of Victoria, fell victim to Clark Spicers, of Seattle, in the first round of the finals for the British Columbia golf championship at the Oak Bay links this morning.

Schwengers was five down on the first eighteen. The second eighteen holes are being played this afternoon.

Schwengers' driving was every bit as good as that of Spicers, but his approach was wild and his putting inferior. Spicers is a nervous, quiet and unsensational player, but fearfully exact in all his work. He began to attract the attention of the crowd at the links here when he, with great ease, put out of the running all his opponents in the preliminary canters at the end of last week, and especially when he calmly went out yesterday and downed the noted Bon Stein, of Seattle, who was counted on to win the championship.

Other results this morning are:
First flight: A. V. Price beat Thomas, 3 and 2.
Second flight: R. Bell-irving, of Vancouver, beat W. C. Todd, 3 and 2.
Third flight: J. Reid beat A. M. D. Fairbairn, 2 and 1.

PALATIAL YACHT TO BE BUILT BY SEATTLE FIRM

$100,000 Craft Being Constructed on Salmon Bay Will Be Finest of Kind

According to an article in a Seattle exchange W. J. Hole, capitalist and sportsman, of Arlington, California, has given a contract to the Blanchard Boat Company at the yards of Tregoning Manufacturing Company on Salmon Bay, Seattle, to build a palatial craft at a cost of $100,000. The vessel will be the best and most up-to-date craft of her type on the Pacific coast.

The vessel will be completed in August and will leave immediately with her owner and a party of friends aboard for a cruise of British Columbia and Alaska waters. Later she will be used by her owner for cruises in California, Mexico and Central America waters. The vessel was designed by L. E. Geary, Seattle naval architect.

Will Be Triple Screw.

The Samona will be a triple-screw yacht, each screw being driven by a 100-horse-power, six-cylinder Diesel engine. She will be able to maintain a speed of thirteen knots. The vessel will be 115 feet long and 18 feet beam, the largest yacht ever built on the Pacific Coast, with the exception of the steam yacht Cypress, constructed for D. C. Jackling in the plant of the old Seattle Construction & Drydock Company.

The Blanchard Boat Company was ready to start work on the vessel the day before the recent fire destroyed its plant. The company leased a part of the yards of the Tregoning Manufacturing Company on Salmon Bay in which to build the palatial craft.

To Have Rich Finishings.
The Samona will have two deck saloons finished in solid rosewood and will be the most beautiful in any craft on the Pacific. The rosewood logs were obtained in Honduras, Central America, by Mr. Hale, and shipped to Seattle to be cut into lumber. One of the saloons will contain a fireplace, a radioophone and a piano. The vessel will contain four double staterooms, two bathrooms and a shower for the crew. The yacht will be heated by electricity.

The generating set of the electric plant, the ice machine, pumps and condensers will all be in duplicate, being constructed in twin sets. The vessel's hull will have double planking of yellow cedar and oak frames. The yacht will have a cruising radius of 4,500 miles. She will carry a crew of five men.

ESQUIMALT LIBERALS.

The monthly meeting of the Esquimalt Liberal Association will be held in Kent's Hall, Esquimalt Road, on Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock.

Paderewski Says:—

"The Steinway Duo-Art Is Supreme"

—and Paderewski Knows

BECAUSE Paderewski is the greatest of all living pianists, his consent to make music rolls exclusively for the Duo-Art is an announcement of the utmost importance.

To the prospective purchaser of a reproducing piano, Paderewski's choice of the Steinway Duo-Art is most significant. Surely this instrument, which Paderewski himself has chosen—and upon which he relies for posterity to listen to his immortal playing—this must be an instrument of superlative quality. Of this we invite you to come and be the judge.

Have you an attic, or a store room, or a place in a store house where dozens, perhaps hundreds of items of furniture and clothes are left year in and year out? Have you any number of pieces of furniture that "were Aunt Mary's," of the long-time-ago days of childhood? One hesitates about disposing of such things so they stand neglected, year in and year out, when they might become the cherished possession of someone who wants to use them NOW.

Clear out your attic, or storeroom, or place in a store house. Dispose of those things profitably through the classified advertisements. Useful things have a right to be used and here are many families who will be happy using those old things of "Aunt Mary's" that you can't use.

SHOWS TREND OF
SPRING FASHIONS

Egyptian Influence and Colored Shoes Features of Easter Wear

New York, April 2.—Attended by a smiling sun but with far from balmy breezes, the annual Easter day parade on Fifth Avenue yesterday was notable for the scarcity of Spring wear and the number and variety of furs.

Swathed from ankles to chin in her winter garments, Milady exhibited visibly only Spring headgear and footwear, and except in occasional instances did other than a trailing skirt edge give a hint of what is to be the prevailing mode.

Colors predominated in all attire not hidden by winter coats and the effect of Tutankhamen was apparent. Hats were smaller and the Egyptian influence brought back the turban of multi-colored decorated with scarabs, hieroglyphs and whatnots. But on the whole small colored straws highly adorned with flowers and fruits of riotous colors were the most apparent. Red seemed to be the prevailing color for hats although the mixture was bewildering.

Colored shoes also seemed to be the mode with hose to match. Color combinations were attempted with striking effect.

What was visible of Milady's frocks and suits displayed a return to long, ankle length skirts.

More men wore about the same sort of toggers as he has for years. A few appeared uncomfortable in what seemed to be higher collars than they were accustomed to wear and many silk hats were brought out for the occasion. Canes were numerous while the chilly weather withheld the passing of spats.

Paris Pointers.

Paris, April 2.—The Tutankhamen hat and the "glove show" made their appearance at the first big racing feature of the year yesterday. The sunning of the President de la République from the viewpoint of fashion has always been regarded as the first move in the dressmakers' offensive in launching their new spring styles.

"The Tutankhamen hat" is a bonnet-shaped headgear of medium size between the large picture hat and the skull-fitting toque. In it the Egyptian colors, blue and rose, or blue and gold, predominate. The hat has a brim varying from an inch and a half to two inches wide, turned down to an angle of forty-five degrees. Straw, cloth and felt are the materials used and the garland of multi-colored flowers is its only trimming.

The shoes in the manufacture of which hard leather practically has disappeared were another innovation of the opening of the 1923 Spring season. The vamp is made of soft chamois or very thin leather, and the shoe can be put on like a glove. The sole consists of thin flexible leather which appears to bend and stretch like a moccasin. The heel is made of wood, covered with enamel, red cloth or hard leather. This is the only part of the shoe in which hard leather is used and is the only solid part of the new footwear.

MASSEY HALL CROWDED

An Immense Audience Greets Feodor Chaliapin—Piano, "Ye Olde Firme" Heintzman & Co. Used Exclusively

A colossal artist—a giant in physical stature, and a giant in artistic stature, is the way one critic has described this Russian basso who so completely captured a Toronto audience on his first appearance in Massey Hall this week. Clean through the fourteen numbers of his programme he carried one of the most cultured and enthusiastic audiences that has ever assembled in Massey Hall with him. The dramatic, the lyric, the humorous all were delightfully rendered.

Before reaching Toronto Chaliapin arranged that a grand piano of Ye Olde Firme of Heintzman & Co. Limited—the piano of Teotzky, Melba, Friedheim—should be placed at his disposal. The pianist associated with Chaliapin as accompanist was Max Rabinowitch, a Russian of marked attainments, who contributed to the evening's enjoyment in piano solos appreciated for their brilliancy and interest. His solo, a glittering paraphrase on a Strauss waltz, by Goldstein, brought forth hearty applause and encores.

The Heintzman & Co. grand piano, once more in the eyes of the great world artists, scored another triumph.

OCEAN AND COASTWISE SHIPPING

THREE DAYS A WEEK SERVICE TO KETCHIKAN

Prince Rupert to Be Placed in Direct Service

Prince Rupert, April 2.—The Ketchikan syndicate owning the big power schooner Bellingham intends this year to inaugurate a permanent three-day service between Ketchikan and this port according to Capt. Bartholomew, of the Ketchikan tug boat Lloyd C. which was in port recently loading wire for canneries in Alaska. The Bellingham will bring here, from Alaska, canned salmon, herring and fresh halibut for shipment over the Canadian National Railways to the United States. Returning north it is expected to develop a shipping course for freight from the United States to Ketchikan. To make the service an all the year around proposition, it is proposed to carry frozen halibut in the close season during the winter. In saving the long water haul to Seattle by coming to the railway here, it is anticipated that the new service will be profitable to the Alaska fish interests in freight saving, the railway routes from Seattle and this port to the East being practically equal.

The schooner Bellingham, which will operate in this trade was last year a barge and she made several calls here with cargoes of salmon. This winter she was fitted out at Seattle with diesel engines providing her own propulsion. The vessel has a carrying capacity of about 350 tons of freight.

It is understood the Bellingham will carry passengers as well as freight.

COMPETITIVE FIRM NOSES OUT K.K.K. SHIPPING COMPANY

According to a statement from San Francisco, the motive behind the announcement that the Toyama Kaisha Kaisha was to retire from trans-Pacific service two of its liners, the Koro Maru and the Sibi Maru, created considerable interest in local shipping circles to-day. It was stated that a cable had been sent to the Yokohama office asking for confirmation or denial.

While it has been known for many months that the T. K. K. Line was losing business and the Pacific Mail Company, operators of the Shipping Board tonnage, had been gaining business, the sudden announcement that the Japanese company had decided to withdraw two of its five liners occasioned surprise. The general impression in local shipping circles is that the announcement is an attempt on the part of the company to force the Japanese Government to subsidize all the company's fleet. At the present time, but two of the vessels are subsidized, the T. K. K. Maru and the Sibi Maru. Heavy inroads into the T. K. K. business have been made by the Pacific Mail Steamship Company during the last year, and several months ago the liner Perla Maru was taken off the Trans-Pacific run, the reason even at the time being that the vessel would be used in the feeder service on the other side of the Pacific.

the position relayed by land wire to the nearest Government radio station, but one of a chain of stations wherein two or more receiving directional sets will take the compass bearings of transmissions from the ship, correlate these on a chart and, after triangulations, transmit the result of their findings to the bearing-seeking vessel.

To Work in Conjunction
There are a number of units of the direction wireless service on the American side, and it is thought that the proposed Canadian station will work in conjunction with them.

The work in one sense, is like that of artillery range finders, two operators on a "base" line bearing on a third and unknown object to get its range and position for the guns. In this case the properties of the directional set take the place of the range-finding instruments, and the result is a mathematical calculation by triangulation.

Value in Practice
In practice a ship may call up a "D.P." station, as it is known, and gain a position that will be correct to 100 yards within two minutes. The value of this is readily seen for a ship lost at sea without opportunity to take bearings and may be a prey to wind and tide of unknown values, can assure herself of her course by a few taps of the radio key—the value of the service lies in the accuracy to which the science has been developed, and the day of the "D.P." station is beginning in real earnest throughout the world.

While the theoretical benefits of the service are great, only practical working of each unit will tell the exact value of the particular station. It may be found that the Canadian station on this coast will be of enormous value to the inner waters of the straits and gulfs. The advocacy of such a service has been kept up steadily by all connected with the marine service at some time, emphasized by the recent disasters.

JAPANESE LUMBER TRADE HAS MORE ENCOURAGING TONE

Japan Offers Big Prices for Special Classes; Large Shipments to Orient

A general improvement in the tone of the export lumber market of British Columbia during the past week has been noticed. Japan has offered $28, $29 and $30 for Japanese squares and there is even a tendency of $22 and $23 being asked for "baby" squares in hemlock. Already the Japanese market is almost bare of lumber and the Siberian situation has proven almost impossible, with the result that Nippon buyers are returning to this market in the same manner that they rushed here a little over a year ago.

With the improvement in export demand comes a counter-balance in a general falling off in requirement for common lumber for the Atlantic seaboard and for California.

Lumber carried on distressed space to the Atlantic seaboard during the early months of the year was much larger in volume than the manufacturers have realized, but a general backing up has brought the true condition of New York and other Atlantic markets to the attention of the British Columbia dealers.

Congestion in various ports of the eastern states is also credited with making it more difficult to secure new orders. It is expected that another three weeks will go by before the surplus lumber in New York, Baltimore and other coast cities is absorbed or distributed.

Freights Higher.
Freight rates to the Orient have advanced $2.50 per thousand feet on lumber since March 1 and there is practically no space available even at this figure for the next two months.

One large lumber and shipping operator, who is in a position to have the first information on the market conditions of the Orient, has been successful in getting a corner on all the tonnage on regular lines that is devoted to lumber, and with the acquisition of this space a $10 base, the rates were suddenly advanced by the conference, leaving the small dealers without bottom to move their lumber unless by charter.

Several charters have been made at $12 and at $13 on Japanese boats to carry lumber from British Columbia to the Orient and other charters are pending. But, with the advance in space rates on regular boats charter tonnage is also making sudden and large increases in carrying charges.

MOTION PICTURES TO LIGHTEN TEDIUM OF TRAIN TRAVEL

Milwaukee Line Inaugurates Showing of Motion Pictures on Train

The motion picture while traveling is the latest novelty in train journeying across the American continent. Once again the Milwaukee & St. Paul Railway leads in innovations by introducing motion pictures as an entertainment on their trains for passengers while traveling.

To every passenger who buys a ticket on the system a ticket for admittance to the "movies" is given him, and in this manner traveling by night does not become so monotonous. This service will be a permanent one on the long trips. The pictures will be shown one night, and on arrival of Spokane another film will be picked up from the Universal Film Corporation, and so on right across the continent. In this manner plenty of entertainment will be provided the passengers.

The theatre on wheels will offer a change in programme nightly, showing only the latest releases. The bills will compare favorably in length and quality with those shown in any city along the line.

It will be the first time that a transcontinental train has offered such a service. If it becomes popular, it will become a permanent feature of railroad travel.

"First call for the movies in the dining car ahead," probably will be the substance of the call in the evening, and when the travelers go forward to the diner they will find a complete motion picture programme arranged for their entertainment. There will be a news reel, a comedy reel and, last of all, the big "feature" picture, such as heads the programme in every modern motion picture theatre.

Waldo, president of the State Normal School, Berkeley, Calif.; Dean Quainton, B.C. Teachers' Federation.

Teachers from all parts of the Province will arrive in Vancouver to-day and to-morrow morning in time to register between 9:15 and 10:30 a.m. to-morrow at King Edward High School. A large attendance is expected this year, as arrangements have been made to pool traveling expenses.

Dean Quainton and Dr. G. G. Sedgewick of the University of B.C. will speak at the opening session between 10:30 and 12 noon. In the evening a public meeting will be addressed by Dr. Suzzallo. The next general session will begin at 2 p.m. Wednesday, when the speakers will be Dr. Suzzallo and Dr. Waldo. On Wednesday evening the Federation banquet will be held at Lester Court beginning at 6:30 o'clock and followed by a dance until midnight.

The annual general meeting of the Federation for the purpose of amending the constitution and other business, including the election of officers, will be held on Tuesday at 2 p.m. On Thursday afternoon at the same hour there will be a general business session, when resolutions will be received and the budget for the ensuing year presented. Sectional meetings are also scheduled.

CHARGES AGAINST HOUSE OF DAVID TO BE INVESTIGATED

Detroit, April 2.—A State investigation of the Israelite House of David at Benton Harbor is soon to be ordered as a result of charges of immorality made in the district court at Grand Rapids, according to Governor A. J. Rosche. If the charges are upheld, it was indicated, a move may be made through amendment of state laws to disband the colony.

CUSTOMS REVENUE

Montreal, April 2.—Total collections of customs and excise duties for the 12 months to March 31, 1923, were $86,928,452.67 as against $77,186,040.82 for the same period in 1922, making a net gain of $9,742,411.85.

SEAL PROTECTION TO BE GIVEN ON MIGRATION NORTH

Programme for United States Coast Guard Service Announced

Units Will Start Seasonal Activities This Week

Orders of assignment are being issued to the several units of the United States Coast Guard service by Capt. T. D. Dodge, in charge of the Seattle district, for the annual summer patrol on North Pacific waters, including those of the Bering Sea and the Alaskan Arctic.

During this week the various units of the service will start seasonal activities, principally the protecting of seal herds on their spring migration to the North. Captain Dodge announced Saturday that Capt. D. C. Carmine, hitherto in charge of the California district, will have charge of Bering Sea and Arctic patrols this year, and that he will come to Seattle April 12 to go to Unalaska, his future headquarters, for the annual summer patrol on North Pacific waters, including those of the Bering Sea and the Alaskan Arctic.

The programme thus far advanced by Captain Dodge is for the cutter Chukotka to patrol the Coast from Eureka to the Columbia River by the Stohomish to Dixon's Entrance; the Unalakleet to patrol from Dixon's Entrance to the mouth of the Columbia; the cutter Haida, while the Haida, being the first ship assigned to Bering Sea waters, will reach Unalaska, the latter part of the month, and will then stand by off the Bering Sea side of Unalakleet Pass to be of assistance to the canneries entering Bristol Bay, and adjacent waters.

While the several cutters are engaged in the patrol of Alaskan waters and following the course of the seal exodus to Northern waters, the new cutter Tanager will be stationed at Astoria for local coastwise service. The cutter Mojave, now at Honolulu, will leave that port April 15 to join the Haida at Unalakleet for Bering Sea service.

The famous cutter Bear, long experienced in Arctic waters, is once more assigned to duty in the far North. She will leave San Francisco for Puget Sound about the middle of April, and will leave here for patrol duty in the vicinity of Nome about the middle of May, later being scheduled to patrol Arctic waters when the Northern ocean becomes navigable.

SCHOONER SUNK OFF CAPE RACE

St. John's, Nfld., April 2.—The schooner Gordon Hollett sank off Cape Race within an hour after the crew had been removed to the steamer Sabie, the latter vessel reported on her arrival here yesterday with mail from Louisbourg. The Gordon Hollett was sixty-five days out of Cadiz for St. John's, salt laden, when she foundered.

The schooner was damaged by ice while trying to work her way through the floes to this port, and on sighting the Sabie hoisted distress signals.

Schwengers to Meet C. Spiers in Finals

Victoria and Seattle Players Competing For B. C. Amateur Golf Championship at Oak Bay To-day; Spiers Defeated Bon Stein In Semi-Finals; While "Bernie" Eliminated A. V. Macan; Gameness of Macan One of Outstanding Incidents of Tournament

Bernie Schwengers, of this city, and Clark Spiers, of Seattle, are fighting for the British Columbia amateur golf championship at the Victoria Golf Club to-day. They teed off at 10 o'clock this morning in the first half of their 36-hole match.

Spiers entered the finals as a result of his victory over Bon Stein, the Seattle champion, while Schwengers' spectacular win over A. V. Macan let him into the coveted position. Both Spiers and Schwengers won their matches in the semi-finals by one up.

The victories of Schwengers and Spiers came as somewhat of a surprise to the local golf fraternity. Bon Stein and the victor of the match between "Big" Wilson and Macan were favored as candidates for the finals. Too much golf, however, was without question the cause of Macan being knocked out of the competition, while Stein failed to overcome the steady game which Spiers was playing.

Macan Did Well.
The gameness of Macan will be recorded as one of the brightest incidents of the tournament. Every time that "Mac" enters a match his opponent has a physical advantage. In the Great War "Mac" was badly shot up and lost one of his legs. This handicap, however, did not force him to drop the game he loved and to-day he stands as one of the finest golfers in the Pacific Northwest.

Yesterday "Mac" underwent one of the most gruelling experiences that has ever fallen to the lot of a golfer in this country. He was drawn against "Big" Wilson in the third round. A keen match was looked for and the big gallery was not able to accommodate the 24th hole was reached, when "Mac" sunk his ball for a win.

After a very brief rest "Mac" had to return to the links to play Schwengers in the semi-finals. The long match of the morning had sapped his strength, but he held on doggedly and Bernie did not gain the honors until he reached the home green. Bernie was on the green with his second shot, a beauty, while Macan failed to get his ball into the hole, considering his physical handicap, is a truly wonderful record.

This is the highest Bernie has gone in his golfing career and there are many who expect to see him through with a victory in the finals to-day. Bernie is playing a splendid game at present and, although Spiers has an impressive record, he is expected to meet a tartar.

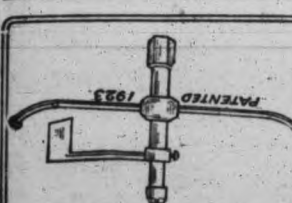

In a New Role.
Several years ago the name of Bernie Schwengers was one to be revered in tennis circles. He held the Canadian and British Columbia singles championships and was on the Canadian Davis Cup team with the late Bobbie Powell. Bernie is now making a strong bid for fame in another sphere of athletic endeavor. In the first flight Frank Thomas, present city champion, and A. V. Fries, former city and provincial champion, are playing off in the finals.

Victoria sent six players into the third round yesterday morning, while Seattle had two hands left. Vancouver did not have a survivor after the second round was played.

In the third round Bon Stein scored a fine win over Jack Hart, while Clark Spiers knocked out another Victorian, Jack Rithet. A. V. Macan accounted for Wilson, and Bernie Schwengers defeated Hew Patterson. This left Victoria with two representatives in the semi-finals opposed by a pair of Seattleites. One player from each town went into the final.

Ottawa Senators Who Have Regained Stanley Cup

Despite the fact that they were labelled as a bunch of "cripples," the Senators succeeded in disposing of the Vancouver Maroons in three out of four games and came right back at the hard-working Eskimos of Edmonton and won in two straight games. The Senators won because they used their brains.

Those in the above picture are as follows: Back row, left to right: E. P. Day, president; Clink Benedict, goal; Frank Nighbor, centre; Jack Darragh, right wing, who was unable to accompany the team to the coast; Frank Clancy, defence, one of the stars of the series; Tommy Gorman, secretary and manager, better known as "Tearful Tommy"; Pettie Green, coach. Front row: Harry Broadbent, right wing; George Boucher, defence; Eddie Gerard, captain and defence; Cy Denenny, left wing; Harry Helman, substitute.

Firsts Swamp Youngsters in Hoop Tourney

Champion Presbyterians Ran Up Big Total Against James Bay Methodists

Making their first appearance in this season's championship basketball tournament, the First Presbyterians had no difficulty in qualifying for the second round, disposing of the James Bay Intermediates, who were rather unlucky in drawing such formidable opponents, by 51-19.

While the Bays are a fast team in their own class, they were no match for their more experienced opponents. Tom Wachter and "Bud" Hocking engineered some fast plays which brought good results, while Passmore made quite a fast collection of sharp shots.

Boyd, Forbes and Breckenridge dropped the ball through with great precision and ran up a big total for the winners. Boyd netting twenty-two points. Oswald Taylor, twenty-two points. The teams were: Firsts—Breckenridge 10, McKinnon 10, 22, Streeter, Whyte and Forbes 11.

St. Mary's Do Well
St. Mary's lived up to expectations by eliminating a fast collection of sharpshooters. Christie, Hoadley and Jeffreys were all finding the basket regularly, the whole team playing a very aggressive game.

The Bays had difficulty in getting all their men out on parade, but managed to get going and did some fast work in which Hocking and Campbell featured.

Gus McKinnon refereed. The teams were: St. Mary's—Christie, Hoadley, Hemmings, Goodacre and Jeffreys. Bays—Hocking, Robinson, Campbell, Davey and Hunter.

Next Wednesday's Game
The feature game for next Wednesday will be the Normal School vs. Y.M.C.A., which should be the best of the series up to date. "Red" Hastings, Sid Hopkins, "Bud" Bass and Art. Flows are with the Normals, while the "Y" has such well-known stars as John Brindley, Bill Hudson, Harold Kenning, Joe Ross and Ben McMillen.

THYE WINS BOUT WHEN HE INJURES OPPONENT
Portland, April 2.—Ted Thye, light heavyweight wrestler, won two out of three falls from Tom Grant, of Spokane, in their match here Saturday. The first fall went to Grant in 32 minutes 30 seconds with a headlock. Thye took the second with a wrist lock in 16 minutes 30 seconds. In gaining the second fall Thye injured Grant's left arm to such an extent that it was useless when they went on the mat for the third fall deciding fall. Thye took the third fall deciding fall. Thye took the third fall deciding fall.

XOPHINE WINNER OF FRENCH TURF EVENT
Paris, April 2.—Xophine yesterday won the President de la Republique stakes at the Auteuil race course. Master Bob was second and Barker third.

The winner paid 16 to 1 on the pari-mutuel betting. Master Bob was 2½ to 1 for the place and Barker 2½ to 1 for the show. Sixteen horses finished out of 21 starters. The light weight Xophine with 134 pounds up kept off the early pace. He drew away on the flat and won easily, while Master Bob and Barker fought it out neck and neck to the finish.

Here Xill, winner of the race in 1921 and 1922, ran gamely under his impost of 178 pounds but was unable to finish better than fifth.

The race, which was at 4,500 metres, was worth 90,000 francs to the winner. It is known as France's grand national steeplechase.

Arsenal and Everton Make Fine Recoveries

Teams Are Pulling Up in First Division, While Middlesboro and Chelsea Are Slipping Fast and May Be Relegated to Second Division—West Ham Is Making Great Fight

London, April 2.—(Canadian Press Cable)—After the fine weather on Good Friday, rain fell in the north of England on Saturday, causing a big slump in the attendance at the football matches. There were nevertheless, 30,000 at Everton and 35,000 at Birmingham.

The largest crowd of the day was at Highbury Park, where in summer-like weather the popular Aston Villa team attracted 45,000 spectators.

The feature of Saturday's play was the remarkable success of the home teams, 31 winning, five drawing, while only six were defeated. The scoring was high, the 42 goals yielding 109 goals. There were only two goalless games, namely at Derby and Reading. West Bromwich Albion led the scoring in the first division.

Great interest centers in the question of relegation and advancement. The Ups and Downs.

In the first division, Liverpool has the cup almost within their grasp. The feature of play in recent weeks has been the recoveries of Arsenal and Everton and the remarkable decline of Middlesboro and Chelsea, who possess the largest ground and perhaps the most influential following in London, have secured only two points in the last eight games. They are in a distinctly dangerous position, partly due to the injuries received by their centre forwards.

Fortunately for Chelsea, the two bottom clubs, Oldham and Stoke, were also beaten Saturday. There is a great race for promotion in the second division, in which nine clubs are concerned, including West Ham United, who, after drawing with Burnley, reproduced their cup form by beating the Crystal Palace defence four times in the first 15 minutes, and the gold medals that also go to the winners won five to one. They are six points behind the top club with three extra games to play.

Here Xill, winner of the race in 1921 and 1922, ran gamely under his impost of 178 pounds but was unable to finish better than fifth.

The race, which was at 4,500 metres, was worth 90,000 francs to the winner. It is known as France's grand national steeplechase.

Edmonton Fails To Halt Heady Ottawas

Senators Come Through With Victory and Stanley Cup Will Remain In East For Another Year; Broadbent Scored Goal On Long Shot and Easterners Played Purely Defensive Game; Gerard Got Back In Game When Boucher Had to Quit

Vancouver, April 2.—Ottawa Senators clamped the lid on Pacific Coast hockey on Saturday night when they hung defeat on the Edmonton Eskimos in the second and final game of the world's series at the local arena. Incidentally they stowed the historic Stanley Cup away in their strong box and hit the steel rails for home yesterday morning. The Eskimos pulled out after the game. One lone counter from the stick of "Punch" Broadbent decided the issue for the easterners. It was the only goal of the game and came in the first period.

Evidently under the impression that it was the final game of the season, the fans turned out in goodly numbers, probably 6,500 being on hand to bid King Hockey farewell for the 1922-23 season. The sympathy of the paid attendance was almost entirely with the Igloo dwellers, who were urged on at all stages. The first two periods were replete with fast, sensational hockey. After that Edmonton produced the only hockey in evidence, the visitors laying back in the goal much and shooting the puck the length of the ice at every opportunity to the expressed disapproval of the crowd.

SENATORS MADE BIG CLEAN-UP IN GAMES ON COAST

Vancouver, April 2.—Ottawa Senators, not only won the right to the title of world's hockey champions when they defeated Vancouver Maroons in the semi-finals and Edmonton in the final series here, but they made a record clean-up for themselves, in taking the players' share of the receipts. It was announced this morning by President Patrick of the P. O. H. A., that the Ottawa players each received $700 as the result of participating in six games. This amount has never been approached before, it is stated.

Vancouver players for the losers' end of the semi-finals received $310 each and the Edmonton players $116 each for the losers' end in the final play-off.

Hal Winkler, in the Edmonton defence, made a wonderful display, and should have been given a clean sheet. Broadbent's lucky goal finding the net from the blue line, with Winkler's vision obstructed by players, was the only goal registered. The N. H. representatives played a strictly defensive game, and it certainly was a glitzy exhibition of defensive play.

Eddie Gerard, with his dislocated shoulder, played practically the entire game. He took all kinds of chances and performed in a stellar manner. George Boucher's ankle was bothering him and he was not called upon to play. Helman, the diminutive substitute who was out of the game after the first game, was rushed into the fray in the third period, getting his first taste of world's series hockey. He was not on long enough to show much.

Young Clancy was again the best man. The Senators had, although Nighbor was in, a clean sheet, and Keats effectively. The latter, however, was considerably more troublesome than in the first game.

WESTS WILL MEET MINERS SATURDAY

City Champs Beat Fitz's by 4-3; Are in Good Shape for Ladysmith

Victoria Wests, city soccer champions, had a good work-out at the Royal Athletic Park on Saturday afternoon and appear to be in pretty good shape for their game with Ladysmith on Saturday. They accounted for Fitz's, Wednesday League champions, by 4-3 after a well-played game.

The Wests, who in recent appearances have appeared in a slump, came back into their stride on Saturday, and their forwards were working well. Ladysmith, which won the Upper Island Football League by 1-0 from Nanaimo, will be here on Saturday to play the Wests in the semi-finals for the B. C. championship.

Fitz's had a one-goal lead at the end of the first period on Saturday. Whyte and Warren having scored for them. Elliott Totty, who returned to the Wests' fold and played at outside left in place of Clarkson, scored the only goal for the greenshirts in this half.

Wests Open Up.
The Wests took the lead in the last period when Merrifield got his shooting boot in working order and scored three goals. Whyte scored a goal for the Wednesday League, but they could not get up to even terms with the Wests.

The teams were as follows:
Wests—Goal, Leeming, backs, Sherratt and Rickenson; half-backs, Sweeten, Muir and Wedon; forwards, Sherratt, Youson, Ogilvie, Merrifield and Totty.

Fitz's—Goal, Jasper, backs, Tait and Grimes; half-backs, Lyn, Speirs and Ward; forwards, Sherratt, Cummings, Whyte, Warren and Pocock.
Referee—Pearson.

Off for Home
Vancouver, B.C., April 2.—Ottawa Senators left for home last night over the Canadian Pacific Railway, bearing with them the claim check for the Stanley Cup and the world's championship in hockey. They will stop off in Winnipeg for an exhibition game there with the winners of the Victoria-Regina exhibition series now being played in that city.

DEPUTY CHIEFSHIP NOW REVIVED

Harry J. O'Leary Succeeds
Late Thos. Palmer; Other Changes Effected

Abolished by the Police Commission of 1921 the post of Deputy Chief of Police was automatically revived yesterday, giving effect to an order of the 1923 Commission passed on February 9 of this year. Harry J. O'Leary, former Detective Sergeant, is now Deputy Chief of Police, second in command to Chief John Fry.

Acting on recommendations made by Chief Fry in his annual report to the Commission, that body sanctioned several changes in the department. Beside the elevation of H. J. O'Leary with a small salary increase, Jailer Thomas Hall takes a step up to the rank of full sergeant.

The post of Inspector Sergeant is automatically wiped out, and its former incumbent, Sergeant Heatley reverts to the rank of patrol sergeant. Other, and minor, changes are also called into effect by the order.

The Deputy Chiefship is now revived after a lapse of about eighteen months. The post was abolished by the Hall-North regime when the late Deputy Chief Thomas Palmer held the post. Though Dr. Ernest Hall is again a member of the Commission, Mr. North has passed from office. Dr. Hall raised no objection to the passage of the order, reviving the post, assenting when the move came at the recommendation of Chief Fry.

The order bringing the changes into effect did not specify the time by which the position would be known. To the Times to-day Commissioner W. E. Stansfield stated that the second in command would be called the "Deputy Chief," and that the post was again established to function as it had before.

What change, if any, this will make in the detective department is not stated. It is understood that Deputy Chief O'Leary's work will now apply to the force as a whole, and not the detective branch solely as heretofore.

Sanctioned in the February meeting of the Commission the changes would have come into effect before except for the fact that several of them required salary alterations and for this reason the additional notice was given. The net effect of the change is to give additional men for street patrol and to bring about a slight saving in the cost of the force.

TO TALK PROJECT OF CO-OPERATIVE LOANS

Considerable interest is being aroused by the effort to form a co-operative savings, loan and building association in Victoria, and the indications are for a large attendance at the public meeting called to discuss the subject in the Chamber of Commerce Auditorium at 8 p. m. on Wednesday. The Chamber of Commerce, while undertaking no financial obligation in connection with the project, will nevertheless do whatever is possible to ensure its success. The chair will be taken by Alfred Carmichael and a report, prepared by Captain T. J. Goodlake, on the best methods to be pursued in connection with such organizations, will be presented for consideration.

No liability will be incurred by attending the meeting, but an opportunity will be afforded of signing forms of application to join the projected association. Many thousands of such associations are already in existence throughout the English-speaking world, and in the main, they have been proved a success at affording a convenient method by which the man of moderate means may become the owner of his own home.

COWICHAN GAME ASSOCIATION MEETS

Officers Are Chosen at the Annual Meeting

Duncan, April 2.—The annual general meeting of the Cowichan District Fish and Game Association was held on Thursday afternoon with a very good attendance. The election of officers for 1923 resulted as follows: President, General Gartside; Vice-president, T. Pitt; Secretary-treasurer, M. K. Macmillan; executive committee: Duncan district—E. Stock, H. Savary and L. Bonnell.

Cowichan Lake district—J. Hodgson and K. Gillespie. Sahlam district—Major Rattray. Quamichan district—Lieut.-Col. Collard, C.B., D. Ashby and B. Hope. Somenos district—Colonel Morris and W. Thompson.

Resolutions—J. A. Monk. Cowichan Lake—Col. Jackson. Glenora Lake—W. Watson. Shawinigan Lake—E. White. Cobitis Hill—J. A. Cheke. Mill Bay—F. Sprott. Westholme—R. E. Barkley, A. Cook and D. Groves.

The financial report was read and accepted and a hearty vote of thanks passed to the secretary-treasurer, M. K. Macmillan, for his work.

The game season was discussed, and resolution formed to send to the game wardens' meeting to be held in April, subject to confirmation later, when it is ascertained what damage the heavy snow has done to the various game birds.

The recommendations are: Cock pheasants, October 15 to December 31; quail, October 15 to December 31; deer, bucks only, October 1 to November 30; blue grouse, closed season; willow grouse, December 15 to January 15; geese honkers, October 1 to December 31, brant, October 1 to February 28. The tag system for deer was also represented.

A resolution was passed that the report of the Federal Fisheries Commission for last year be adhered to with regard to the new amendment to the Game Act, giving farmers permission to shoot pheasants all the year round which was doing damage to crops, a resolution was passed asking that hen pheasants should not be shot during May and June (breeding season).

A resolution was passed that the local game wardens be empowered to appoint honorary assistants in the district.

It was recommended that J. B. Simpson, Cowichan Lake, be appointed permanent game warden for Cowichan Lake district.

DISTRICT NOTES.

Special to The Times
Colwood, April 2.—The grand final of the Colwood weekly whist drives was held on Wednesday evening at Colwood Hall. The prizes were awarded for the highest average score as follows: Ladies' prize, Miss Mabel Dickinson; gentleman's prize, Pat Parker. The financial statement presented by the treasurer, Mr. J. B. Simpson, showed a surplus of $3, which will be donated to the hall fund. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Murray.

Metochosin, April 2.—The Metochosin Girl Guides held their meeting on Thursday afternoon at Metochosin Hall. The girls were delighted to welcome back their captain, Miss Peggy Brown, who has been taking a course of study in Calgary. She arrived home on Wednesday. A hearty and delicious tea was prepared and served to the company by W. G. Miller, which was much appreciated by the Guides.

Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Ashe, of Albert Head, who have been visiting Mrs. Ashe's people in the Old Country during the winter months, are expected to sail from Liverpool, March 31, and will arrive here about April 15.

Metochosin, April 2.—Selections from Stainer's Crucifixion were rendered very creditably by an augmented choir at St. Mary's Church, Metochosin, during Good Friday service. The tenor soloist was A. D. Elliott. Bass soloists were H. G. Pierce, choirmaster, and R. R. Gibbs, organist. Mr. Blankenbach, of Victoria.

Colwood, April 2.—The dance held at Colwood Hall on Tuesday evening was pronounced the most successful one of the season, a record crowd attended. Excellent music was provided by a three-piece orchestra, and refreshments were served. It was decided to repeat the dance on April 10, when the winner of the beautiful picture which has been painted by the local artist, John Goodall, will be declared.

A silver tea will be held at the home of Miss Janes, Colwood, on Tuesday at 3 o'clock, for the benefit of the new vicarage fund. There will also be a silver tea at the home of Mrs. Comie at Langford on Thursday next, for which a musical programme has been arranged.

Metochosin, April 2.—April 20 is the date fixed for the bulb and flower show under the auspices of the Metochosin Women's Institute. Competition is open to everyone. Mr. White, assistant district horticulturist, will act as judge, and Dr. D. Warnock, Deputy Minister of Agriculture, has been invited to open the exhibition.

ROYAL PRESENTS STORY OF DESERT

Norma Talmadge Appears in
"Voice From Minaret"

Norma Talmadge, the most popular of the women stars on the screen to-day, will be seen soon at the Royal Theatre in this week in her latest offering, "The Voice From the Minaret," declared to be a story of unusual dramatic power. Frank Lloyd directed this first National picture, which was adapted by Frances Marion from Robert Hichens' famous novel.

The action of the play is laid in London, Bombay, Damascus and the desert, and the production has a pictorial background of striking splendor. The story is a colorful romantic one, swiftly moving, and nothing has been left undone to make this Norma Talmadge's greatest picture.

The star is cast as Lady Adrienne, the wife of the Governor of Bombay, Sir Leslie Carlyle. Cruel by nature, the Governor takes keen delight in torturing his wife in every conceivable manner, insulting and disgracing her in public at every opportunity.

Lady Adrienne bears up patiently under his abuse, but the time came when she found she could stand no more, and she determined to leave her husband. So she started on her long journey back to England. En route she became acquainted with a son of Britain who was on a pilgrimage to the Holy Land. He induced her to change her plans and to accompany him.

They found love in the desert of the East—but not the peace they craved, for the voice of the muezzins, calling the faithful to prayer from the minarets, constantly reminded them of their duty to others. Regretfully, they turned back, to face a series of highly dramatic adventures that nearly brought an end to their lives.

"MONTE CRISTO"
NOW AT DOMINION

Famous Story in Film to Be Shown Here All Week

What is obviously the most picturesque "location" set thus far built for motion pictures is a French fishing village constructed at Balboa, Cal. It was used in several of the important scenes in the William Fox special, "Monte Cristo," directed by Emmett J. Flynn. Located in the office of Richard E. Sibbey, chief art and technical director for the Fox West Coast Studios, Hollywood, California, the set was left to the citizens of Balboa at their request. "Monte Cristo" is the attraction at the Dominion this week.

There are two streets in the village, one of them fronting on the ocean, and each reflects the picturesque architecture of the simple fisher folk of the Napoleonic period. The homes, taverns, stories, and shipping offices, are faithful reproductions of the water front of Marseilles. From copies of old prints and etchings in the possession of New York and New Orleans French historical societies loaned to Mr. Sibbey and Mr. Flynn. Even the rude and uneven cobblestone paving of that period is faithfully reproduced. To get the desified result and to show Marseilles as it was when Edmund Dantes later sailed home in the good ship Pharon. It was even necessary to build cofferdams and crabs to construct the sea wall, so vividly described by Dumas in his wonderful narrative.

It was along this sea wall that the Pharon was warped, to be greeted by M. Morrel, owner of the vessel. But a stone's throw away may be seen the cavern of the miserably Cadrouse, from which came Dantes, pere, to greet his returning son. Further down the street is the home of the lovely Mercedes, sweetheart of the young sailor, who awaited so eagerly his home-coming.

In response to the wishes of the merchants and residents of Balboa, William Fox, after completion of the photographic scenes, generously left the picturesque village standing. Tourists driving down the coast from Los Angeles visit the set as one of the show places of the neighborhood.

Life was anything but a continual round of pleasure for the crew of the whaling schooner "Carolyn Frances," regardless of whether its members had really signed ship's articles or belonged to the cast of players enacting the Metro version of Ben Ames Williams' powerful sea story, "All the Brothers Were Valiant." This is an Irvin V. Willat production and will be shown at the Capitol Theatre all this week.

Fights and whaling were the principal activities of crew and cast during the month the "Carolyn Frances" sailed Pacific waters. Being confined to the ship every day for a month became irksome to the cast. Chasing whales in longboats served to help break the monotony, but even this sport lost its fascination.

The picture called for a mutiny scene. After its screening, stock was taken of casualties. Black eyes, bruised knuckles and cracked ribs were plentiful. With such noble artists as Al Kaufman, well-known "white" hope of a few years ago, leading the attack, much physical damage resulted.

There were other grievances. When the "Carolyn Frances" docked and the call for shore liberty was piped by the boatswain, the members of the cast regarded their whalers and stowaways. Practically all the men aboard, with the exception of Malcolm McGregor and Lon Chaney, had foregone shaving for the length of the cruise to make up wild for the camera. It was impossible to attend a theatre or social affair with the whiskers and it was impossible to attend without them. So far as the bewildered gentry were concerned, the trip was a flat social failure.

SPECIAL EASTER PROGRAMME OF MUSIC AT ROYAL

To-night a special Easter programme of music will be rendered for Music Lovers' Night at the Royal. This will be in addition to the feature, Norma Talmadge in "The Voice from the Minaret." The following are some of the selections that will be played, and in addition there will be a number of others which are too numerous to mention:
"Ballet" (Egyptian).....Lugini
"A Chant" (Hindoo).....Bernberg
"Largo".....Handel
"Hayana".....Leslie Stuart
"At Dawning".....Cadman

SPECIAL MUSIC WEEK AT CAPITOL

Misses Joy and Una Calvert, in violin and piano selections, will be presented at the Capitol this week, appearing every evening in conjunction with the usual Capitol entertainment. These talented young artists have met with great success in London, England and New York, in recital and concert engagements. Miss Joy Calvert plays the violin with great taste and a tone of exceptional beauty. Her playing is indeed remarkable and displays a high finished technique. The piano playing of Miss Una Calvert is also remarkable and displays sound musicianship. They are on the whole two very promising artists, whom Victorians are privileged to hear. Vera Lamonte, a noted contralto, will also be heard at the Capitol this week. Her magnificent voice will be shown to much advantage in her popular song selections, which will undoubtedly win favor with Victoria audiences.

The new Capitol organist, J. E. Hodgson, Mus. Doc., F.R.C.O., will preside at the orchestral organ, presenting a splendid programme of popular and classical selections, among which will be the William Tell overture.

DUSTIN FARNUM IN FOX PICTURE

Makes Hit in Columbia Offering
"While Justice Waits"

Manager Clarke, of the Columbia Theatre, is to be congratulated for bringing to this city one of the best photoplays projected on a local screen in some time. This picture, "While Justice Waits," in which Dustin Farnum is starred, is a William Fox production. Supported by Irene Rich, Farnum does some of the best work of his career in this picture. Much credit is also due to Bernard J. Durning, who directed the production, and to Don Short, who besides being the cameraman, assisted in the writing of the story, which is one of the best that Dustin Farnum has had in some time.

The story deals with the trials of a gold miner. Dan Hunt (Dustin Farnum) finds gold. When he returns to his home he finds a note from his wife saying that she had eloped with another. After much searching, he learns that his wife had been seen with the leader of a bandit gang. He sets forth in search of the bandit. He joins the gang, hoping to catch his wife and her lover together.

One night the church is robbed by the members of the band. They bring the loot to their rendezvous where it is divided. A dice game follows and Hunt wins all of the loot. He returns it to the church. The Padre tells Hunt that about seven. The Padre tells Hunt that the young boy's mother would some day come for him; that a man had left the boy at the priest's house saying that his mother would reclaim him.

In a nearby town Hunt finds his wife. She explains that the bandit leader had kidnapped her, that she had escaped and has been looking for her husband for seven years and that the lad is their son. It ends happily.

LONDON STRING QUARTETTE HERE

Will Play at Empress Hotel
This Evening

"Amazingly lovely was the performance," wrote The London Daily Telegraph of the London String Quartette's playing of a French work. "No European quartette that has visited London has excelled the London players in beauty of ensemble, rich tone and technical ability." Similar testimony to the superb qualities of the playing of the famous quartette comes from the pens of European and American critics. During their concert at the Empress hotel ballroom this evening the quartette will play, besides other works, the famous prize-winning suite by Mr. Walden, the composer and viola player of the group, "The Pity Ring."

The best sale is taking place at Fletcher Bros. until 6 p.m. to-day and after 7.30 at the Empress Hotel.

ing the tours in Scandinavia, Spain and Holland the quartette were hailed in extravagant terms. "The finest quartette in the world," declared a Spanish authority at Corunna. "We have never heard such quartette playing before," confessed a Danish critic, while the famous Journal, Comedien, of Paris, said: "They played with an ease and virtuosity unsurpassed by any foreign combination that has ever visited Paris." Clarence Urry, the well known American critic, was so transported by the quartette's playing that he wrote: "The celestial Andante Cantabile was given in an indescribably supernal way. It was a dream, a prayer, a benediction, at the close of a programme of supreme elation, Amen."

LOST NERVE
The absorption of Cox's Bank by Lloyds Bank Ltd. recalls the story of a subaltern—not a temporary officer—who in pre-war days had always been allowed to overrun his account. But after the early days of the war that convenient custom ceased, and this young man was refused a £5 overdraft.
"I want to see Cox," I might see Cox," he demanded. He kept up his demand so insistently that at last he was admitted to see one of the managers. But the answer given him was the same.
"You say you won't allow me to overdraw my account even by £5?"
"I'm sorry, but it is impossible," returned the official.
The subaltern looked pained.
"Cox," he said, hoarsely, "you must have lost your nerve."

"Your wife will receive every courtesy"

Dangers following Influenza

A few years ago the Surgeon General of the U. S. Army officially drew public attention to the danger of the development of pneumonia following an attack of influenza.

Doctors say that persons of delicate constitution or in a "run-down" condition—those who have had their stamina lowered by worry, overwork, faulty nutrition or disease, are most liable to contract influenza and are least apt to make a prompt and complete recovery from it.

If your constitution is delicate—if you are weak or run-down—you should start at once building up your strength and acquiring the stamina you will need to resist an attack of influenza. If you are now suffering with influenza, or if you have just gotten over it, you will need this stamina all the more to increase your prospects of complete convalescence, and especially to escape pneumonia.

To gain this strength and stamina—this power of resistance that you need is an absolutely trustworthy general tonic—one that will enrich your blood, invigorate your nerves, promote nutrition, and increase the restorative forces of your entire system.

In Wincarnis you have such a preparation, for it is a Tonic, a Restorative, a Bloodmaker and a Nervinizer, all in one. This is why is so often prescribed by the physician in cases of influenza. That is one of the reasons why it has become a household word in England, where influenza is so prevalent. More than 10,000 physicians have recommended Wincarnis. It is just the type of general tonic that is daily prescribed by the most successful members of the medical profession the world over.

Wincarnis

The Reconstructive Tonic

Buy a bottle of Wincarnis from your druggist today. Start now building up your strength. Remember that deadly pneumonia may result from influenza, even days after one feels that recovery has taken place.

NO CHANCE OF BRIDGE STRIKE

Workers Assure Engineer They Will Finish Job on Harbor Viaduct

Johnson Street bridge workers, who were reported last week to be on the verge of a strike, have agreed to finish their work on the project at their present rate of wages. City Engineer F. M. Preston announced today.

"There is no possibility of a strike or any such trouble on the bridge job," Mr. Preston stated. "I have received definite assurance that the men will continue to work on the present wage scale until the project has been completed."

"From investigations I have made I have come to the conclusion that only a few irresponsible men talked of a strike at all. The steady bridge builders who have been on the job for some months all deny that they had any intention of striking. No reduction in bridge wages is contemplated anyway, and the city's share of the work will be completed in the course of a few weeks, we expect."

EASTER IS SEASON OF FINE SERVICES

First Congregational Endorses Church Union Unanimously

Christ Church Has 1,000 Communicants

Easter services in the city churches yesterday attained to the high standard of past festivals. Although the season is late this year beautiful Spring flowers, particularly lilies, daffodils and palms, as well as the native Springtime flora decorated the buildings, some of the churches instituting a novelty in having the steps also adorned with greenery. The music was of a special character, with fine features drawn from the master minds of the centuries. The theme of the Resurrection proved the magnet for larger attendance of churchgoers than at any time in Victoria's history, and several hundreds were turned away from the services. Metropolitan.

A well arranged musical programme at the Metropolitan Church was rendered to an unusually large audience. At the morning service Dr. Sipprell gave his Easter message followed by two solos and an anthem by the choir. "As It Began to Dawn" was the morning anthem, Mrs. Lewis taking the solo part. A tenor solo was sung by A. Roberts, who selected "The Trumpet Shall Sound" (Pringle Scott) as the opening solo of the morning. Fred Wright rendered "Open the Gates of the Temple."

Special Sunday School Services were held in the afternoon, while in the evening the choir again took a prominent part. Rev. W. E. Milson, of Toronto, spoke on the social work being done by the Methodist Church in Canada. The following programme was rendered by the choir: "As It Began to Dawn," anthem, Mrs. G. A. Downard, soloist; "In the End of the Sabbath," anthem, by G. G. G. F. Wright took the solo lead in this piece. A carol anthem, "On Wings of Living Light," was the concluding anthem, while the entire service culminated in the singing of the "Hallelujah Chorus" from "The Messiah." The solos rendered were "Hail, Glorious Morn," by Mrs. Knight, and "The Trumpet Shall Sound" (Handel), by Percy Edmunds. Mesdames Walker and Morton were heard to advantage in a well-blended duet titled "Hosanna" (Granier).

First Presbyterian. An exceptionally large attendance marked the Easter services at the First Presbyterian Church, when Dr. W. G. Wilson took as his Easter message, "The Power of the Resurrection." Miss Nora Jones was the soloist of the morning. She rendered "Open the Gates of the Temple."

The evening service was placed entirely in the hands of the choir under the capable conductorship of Jackson Hanby with Mr. Gurney presiding at the organ. A large amount of Easter music were rendered by the choir and a very enjoyable music was the result. Mrs. Morrison, soprano, sang "I Know That My Redeemer Liveth" in an expressive manner, while Mr. Draper, tenor, and Mr. Petrie, bass, were heard to advantage in some of the larger anthems.

First Congregational. The First Congregational Church had been tastefully decorated for the services, and the occasion was a notable one for church members in that the vote on church union was taken after the conclusion of the morning services. It was announced that an unanimous vote had been taken in favor of church union, bringing the Victoria congregation into line with others on this important question.

Centennial Church. About 2,500 people were made familiar with the intricacies of radio at the afternoon forum meeting at the Centennial Church and at the evening service. Because of defects in the aerial of the First Presbyterian Church of Seattle the arrangements made to receive Dr. Matthews' message and music by the choir of that church at the Forum were unavailing. Several stations, however, were heard from. Jack McKay, of the International Engineering School, under whose direction the radio has been installed, had the expert assistance of Mr. Mayne, through the courtesy of the Marconi Company of Vancouver. Further efforts made at the evening service to establish connection with Seattle met with only partial success. Later The Province concert came over quite successfully. Dr. Davies is not discouraged by the first experiment and is determined to bring the effort to broadcast, inaugurated yesterday, to a successful issue.

St. Andrew's. Beautiful Easter decorations consisting of Calla lilies, daffodils and gregory imparted great beauty to the Easter services at St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church yesterday. Appropriate music was rendered at each service, and a very large congregation was present in the evening to hear the repetition of the beautiful sacred cantata "Atonement" (Dean Shure) by the choir. Mr. Jesse Longfield presided at the organ.

DISTRICT GARDENERS WILL HEAR ADDRESSES

The Victoria and District Gardeners' Association will hold their monthly meeting at the City Hall Tuesday at 8 o'clock. E. W. White, District Horticulturist of the Department of Agriculture, will give a talk on the care, cultivation and growing of small fruits. Fred Bennett, of Strawberry Vale, will speak on the question of modern pruning and bark grafting. As both speakers are men of much experience, a very interesting evening is anticipated.

Members are reminded of the April class for competition, which is on broccoli or white, or purple sprouting broccoli. Floral section, any variety of flowering or foliage plant. All entries for the Marchant Cup, which is being given for the best kept home garden, are to be in the hands of the secretary at this meeting.

Mrs. Sleeth Says Tanlac Took Her From Sick Bed

Vancouver Lady Declares Famous Medicine Ended Stomach Trouble, Insomnia, Nervousness and Weakness Left by Flu

"For some time before I took Tanlac I was sick in bed, but two weeks after I started the treatment I was up and about, doing my housework, and have been a firm believer in Tanlac ever since," declared Mrs. Alice Sleeth, 3493 Twentieth Avenue, Point Grey, Vancouver, B.C.

An awful run-down condition, with my stomach all out of order, and my nerves in such an excited state I could get no restful sleep. My appetite just about left me and even the little I did eat gave me indigestion and I was in distress with the pains. My strength and energy were down to the vanishing point and I surely felt tired out and miserable. "I never had a medicine help me like Tanlac did. I have a grand appetite, perfect digestion, sleep peacefully every night, and always feel strong and well. The Tanlac treatment is splendid and I cannot praise it too highly." Tanlac is for sale by all good druggists. Over 35,000,000 bottles sold.

While art critics agree that the picture cannot be an original Hals, they admit that the newly discovered painting is fairly old.

He went to Montreal in 1912 as manager of the Canadian Credit Men's Trust Association, Limited, retaining that position until February, 1916, when he joined the Canadian Starch Company in charge of advertising and merchandising, a position he held until recently.

BANDITS SEIZE REGISTERED MAIL

St. Louis, Mo., April 2.—Nine pouches of registered mail were obtained in a hold-up of a mail truck in the business district here to-day. Police asserted it was the boldest robbery in the city's history. The mail was for delivery to large business firms, including banks and brokerage houses. Postal officials stated the amount of money and valuables obtained could not be ascertained until the records of registry were checked.
While the United States has the greatest number of motor vehicles in the world, the Republic of Seychelles has the least number of any nation, with only two cars in the whole country.

LIQUIDATION APPEARS AFTER OPENING

(By Burdick Bros. Ltd.)
New York, April 2.—The market exhibited an appearance of firmness at the outset, but as the session progressed weakness was rather pronounced in issues where there has been considerable liquidation. Of course the weakness in the railroads was explained in various ways. There were some rumors that the Union Pacific dividend might be reduced at the next meeting, but not much credence was given to same. Another explanation was partly found by the remarks of the President of the Illinois Central road about the possibility of fresh labor difficulties on the railroads, and still another explanation seemed to be found in the remarks credited to a leading local statistician, the substance of which was that he feared a decline in the new crop, may become a reality when the process of liquidation is completed. A further adjustment of the technical status of the market, we think, will have to be brought about before it can be said again that the price level is resting on a real firm basis.

THE SANDMAN STORY FOR TO-NIGHT

WHAT HAPPENED AT SNOWED-IN HUT
Part VIII.

Mr. Badger was surprised, but he was not a quivering disposition and he quickly recovered and said: "Not at all, not at all, I really ought to get up and look after my fire. Wonder what the weather is outside."

"Snow," said Mr. Fox. "We are snowed in, Mr. Badger. And I think it will be some time before we see daylight again. But why in the world have you got that胖猪 hanging on your leg?"

Mr. Badger looked down at his foot and smiled rather foolishly. "Well, you see, I take all my 'tailor-made' to bed with me. I said, 'I have a set of new tinware and I do not wish to be robbed. I must have caught my foot in the handle of this tin when I jumped out of bed.'"

Mr. Coon came out of the far corner of the room where he had been running when the rattling was first heard. With his eyes fixed on the bright tin, he made his way to Mr. Badger.

"Beautiful, just beautiful," he was saying, "I never saw anything so beautiful. Oh, Mr. Badger, did you say you had a full set of this beautiful bright tin?"

"Yes," replied Mr. Badger, looking very much pleased, "do you add?"

There was a tradition of election also in early Frankish and German kingdoms, though the decision was usually taken between one or other members of a royal caste or family. The early Caliphs were elected, and so was the Great Khan of the Mongols, and Kublai became a Chinese monarch.

Equally constant in the settled lands do we find the opposite idea, the idea of a non-elective divinity, in kings and of their natural and inherent right to rule.

As our history has developed we have noted the appearance of new and complicating elements in the story of human societies; we have seen that nomad turned go-between, the trader, appear, and we have noted the growing importance of shipping in the world. It seems as inevitable that voyaging should make men free in their minds as that settlement within a narrow horizon should make men timid and servile.

But in spite of all such complications, the broad antagonism between the method of obedience and the method of will runs through history down into our own times. To this day their reconciliation is incomplete.

Civilization even in its most servile forms has always offered much that is enormously attractive, convenient and congenial to mankind; but something restless and untamed in our race has striven continually to convert civilization from its original reliance upon a community of participating wills, have And to the lurking nomadism in our blood, and particularly in the blood of monarchs and aristocrats, we must ascribe also that incessant urgency toward a wider range that forces every state to extend its boundaries if it can, and to spread its interests to the ends of the earth. The power of nomadic restlessness that tends to bring all the earth under one rule seems to be identical with the spirit that makes most of us chafe under direction and restraint, and seek to participate in whatever government we tolerate.

The Spirit of Submission.
And this natural, this temperamental struggle of mankind to reconcile civilization with freedom has been kept alive after age by the military and political impotence of every "community of obedience" that has ever existed.

Obedience, once men are broken to it, can be easily carried and transferred. It witnesses the massive role of Egypt, Mesopotamia and India, the original and typical lands of submission, the "cradles of civilization," as they have passed from one lordship to another. A servile civilization is a standing invitation to predatory free-men.

But on the other hand a "community of will" necessitates a fusion of intractable materials; it is a far harder community to bring about, and still more difficult to maintain. The story of Alexander the Great displays the community of will of the Macedonian captains gradually dissolving before his demand that they should worship him. The incident of the murder of Clitus is a fine example of the struggle between the free and the servile tradition that went on whenever a new conqueror from the open lands and the open air found himself installed in the palace of an ancient monarchy.

In the case of the Roman Republic, history tells of the first big community of will in the world's history, the first free community much larger than a city, and how it weakened with growth and spent itself upon success until at last it gave way to a monarchy of the ancient type, and decayed slowly into one of the feeblest communities of servitude that ever collapsed before a handful of invaders.

We have given some attention in this book to the factors in that decay, because they are of primary importance in human history. One of the most evident was the want of any organization into one of the feeblest communities of servitude that ever collapsed before a handful of invaders.

There was, moreover, no efficient religious idea behind the Roman state; the dark Etruscan liver-piercing cult of Rome was a servile adaptation to the political needs of great communities as the very similar Shamanism of the Mongols.

First to Spread Education.
It is in the fact that both Christianity and Islam, in their distinctive ways, did at least promise to supply the first time in human experience, this patent gap in the Roman republican system as well as in the nomadic system, to give a common moral education for a mass of people, and to supply them with a common history of the past and a common idea of a human purpose and destiny, that their enormous historical importance lies.

As we have noted, had set a limit to the ideal community of a few thousand citizens, because he could not conceive how a larger multitude could be held together by a common idea. He had had no experience of any sort of education before the tutorial methods of his time. Greek education was almost purely viva-voce education; it could reach therefore only to a limited aristocracy.

THE GREAT CYPHER
INSTALMENT NO. 1.

It was a night of illusions. The whole world was unreal. The city could not be seen. There was a sort of "fog" over the city, the great gardens across the bit of park into the haze, pierced by the narrow white shaft of the National Monument extending into the sky.

There was a heavy odor of jessamine and honeysuckle lying about the southern portico of the Executive Mansion. But there were no lights. The whole of the portico was in heavy shadow. A big, strong, masculine figure, cultivated and firm, was speaking into the night.

"I am glad that business of your embassy brought you to America, Monsieur Jonquille," he said, "the last expedition of Chauvannes in South Africa. He was a first-class man. What was he? A man who knew his own mind, and that was the secret of his success. The current report at the time could not have been the truth. It was too fantastic."

He might have made out the figure of the Frenchman by looking closely in the dim light. He sat in a long chair, his legs extended, a cigarette in his mouth, his fingers. His voice was low and clear when he spoke, like one engaged with a reflection.

"It was all the truth, Excellency," he said, "as we now know."

The big voice interrupted. "That fantastic story!"

The Frenchman's voice did not change.

"The truth about it," he said, "is even more fantastic than the current story of the time. Nobody believed it. Nobody could have believed it. When his journal finally came in, everybody thought Chauvannes had gone mad before the end, but I have never doubted that he could not have happened."

He paused. Then: "But it was every word the truth. . . . There are the emeralds in the dark."

The big man beyond Monsieur Jonquille, obscured by the thick shadow, made an exclamation of astonishment.

"The emeralds," he said, "are of course proof of the fact that Chauvannes found some evidences of the thing he was after. But his journal could not have been the truth. The man who wrote the closing pages of that journal must have been mad."

The Frenchman replied with no change in his voice.

"Excellency," he said, "the man who wrote the closing pages of that journal was not only not mad, but he was so clever that I have never ceased to admire him. He was in a desperate position, from which, he knew perfectly well, there was no escape, and he undertook to do a thing that not only required the soundest intelligence, but it also required a degree of cleverness that he was not only not lacking in, but I feel that I ought to stand and uncover whenever I think about Chauvannes."

There was a sound in the darkness as of one drawing one's body swiftly together in a chair. There was a sort of booming in the big voice.

"You amaze me," it said. "Of course, I knew what Chauvannes was after. He used to talk about it when I was his secretary."

"Why did you knock me down when I kissed you in the dark conservatory?"

"Forgive me, dear one," the beautiful film star explained, "I thought it was my husband."—London Opinion.

DOUKHOBORS TRY TO BURN SCHOOL

Trouble Interior Settlements Revived in Attempt to Get Back Fines

Recent efforts of a Doukhobor representative, at a conference with provincial educational authorities here, to settle the school trouble in Doukhobor settlements in the interior apparently have failed. The latest development in the trouble is an attempt by Doukhobors, it is alleged, to burn a school at Outlook, near Grand Forks, in an effort to secure remission of the fines imposed recently for the non attendance of Doukhobor children at school.

Doukhobors entered the school early in the morning, according to the police. They started a fire, but managed to escape without being caught. According to the Grand Forks correspondent of The Nelson News, Miss Spence, the school teacher, who has living apartments at the end of the school building, heard the firebug, and hurried in her nightgown to the house of a neighbor and gave the alarm. The neighbors rushed to the school and found the fire burning pretty lively, but after strenuous efforts they were able to extinguish it. The firebug had flown, however.

They Try Her Quarters.

Miss Spence usually remains in Grand Forks over the week-end, but had returned to the school last night. The firebug first tried to gain entrance to the building through her living quarters, she states. They used a flashlight, and when they went to the opposite end of the building, Miss Spence, who was badly frightened at the early visitation, ran through pitch darkness and gave the alarm to neighbors. Only her prompt action saved the building from destruction.

Some weeks ago eight members of the Doukhobors were brought before the magistrate and fined for not sending their children to school. District warrants had to be issued and the fines were paid under protest. H. W. Casakoff, Vice-President and General Manager for the Doukhobors, hastened to Victoria, where, he asserts, the Attorney-General and the Minister of Education both agreed to the fines being remitted. The Attorney-General wrote the school board at Grand Forks, which had taken the action, suggesting that the fines might be remitted if Doukhobor children were attending school. Casakoff wrote the school board demanding the return of the money as the "only solution" to the trouble.

Board Refuses to Pay Back Fines.

The school board could see no reason to remit the fines, since it would be a special privilege not accorded a British subject, and also from the fact that the costs of the court had been more than the fines, which amounted to about $250.

EASTER SUNRISE SERVICE DRAWS RECORD AUDIENCE

Nearly Four Thousand Attend at Mount Tolmie

Initiation of Open Air Religious Gatherings Is Appreciated

Victoria's first Easter Sunrise Service proved successful beyond the sanguine hopes of its promoters. Undeterred by cloudy weather, and the mist, nearly four thousand persons, representing every walk of life in the community, journeyed by automobile, street car, bicycle, or on foot to Mount Tolmie in the early hours of yesterday. There they inaugurated similar services to which have proved so successful in other parts of this continent, and particularly in California.

The service conducted by Rev. Dr. C. Davies went forward on the summit of the park, the Victoria-Saanich Beaches and Parks Committee controlling some 16 acres around the summit, thus insuring for all time access to the eminence. A temporary cross had been erected, and this served as a centre for the service, which was aided by the Centennial church choir and orchestra. It was a service in which the public joined with enthusiasm, and a fervor seldom observed in open air services, quite oblivious of the mantle of fog which enveloped the sleeping valley below.

An Ancient Festival.

Worship of the Creator on the mountain side linked from the earliest ages with the aboriginal forms of religion. The devotion of the Doukhobors to the service was a revival of an ancient festival. The Doukhobors, who were many in the city, will no longer have occasion for skepticism. Four years ago the founders of this community first worshipped under a rude canopy of evergreens, beneath the shade of an over-arching cedar, guided by a priest of the Catholic faith. This Easter Sunday the present generation of Victorians assembled at an undenominational service held in the open air, on the rocky slopes carpeted only with Spring flowers already bursting into Springtime radiance. There have been many joint undenominational services here, but there have been no parallels with yesterday's gathering. In spontaneity of effort, in co-operative management, in enthusiasm, and in the recognition of the great central theme of the Christian faith, the Doukhobor service was a unique event.

The Service.

The familiar hymns took a new meaning in the grey dawn, and the character of the service attained what is always so difficult in an open-air gathering, that of retaining the attention of the audience throughout. From the gospel of St. John, the disciple who above all sheds light on Christ as the divine Master, the speaker found the subject of the scripture lesson, and the text for his address, from John xx. 15: "Supposing Him to be the Gardener." It had been, he pointed out, a matter of remark through the ages that Mary should not have recognized the risen Lord, but it must be recalled that her eyes were dimmed with tears. Dr. Davies recalled the visit of the angels to the tomb, and the belief Mary shared with all that the tomb was still occupied.

The First Easter Morn.

"Compare her position," he said, "with that which each of us has felt in the presence of the body of some loved one. It is difficult perhaps at first to realize that the departed has gone to a better, to a grander, to a less circumscribed sphere. It was the lesson of the Resurrection on the first Easter morn, as it was the lesson of the passing of each Christian man and woman to His Maker."

The supposition that Christ was in the body of some loved one. It is difficult perhaps at first to realize that the departed has gone to a better, to a grander, to a less circumscribed sphere. It was the lesson of the Resurrection on the first Easter morn, as it was the lesson of the passing of each Christian man and woman to His Maker."

A STRIKING PARALLEL

"Mount Tolmie has everything which Mount Roubaux possesses in natural beauty, and in addition a wonderful seascap," said Stephen Jones to The Times yesterday in discussing the inauguration of the Sun's Services here. Mr. Jones has known the Riverside, Cal. district for sixteen years, or prior to the inauguration of the famous services. He also knows Mr. Miller, who inaugurated the services in 1913. Mr. Jones appeals for a motor road up the hill, on an easy ascent, similar to that which prevails at Mount Roubaux, which he says occupies almost an identical position to the City of Riverside that Mount Tolmie does to Victoria.

It was a significant thing that Christ never showed himself in the Temple after He had risen from the dead. His appearances thereafter were in unexpected places, and it was in unexpected places in the home, the schools and everywhere that His appearance to-day would be found. He pleaded with his disciples to recognize Christ in whatever form He appeared, and to worship Him. Dr. Davies concluded with a plea for attendance of his audience at their individual churches that Sunday.

On the conclusion of the service many hastened forward to congratulate Dr. Davies on the inauguration of Sunrise Services on Easter Day in Victoria.

RECOMMENDS SIX POTATO VARIETIES

Growers Discuss Forming a Permanent Organization on Island

No more than six varieties of potatoes will be grown in future on the southern part of Vancouver Island, and if the growers will do as recommended by Mr. Tice, the Provincial Government potato expert. He gave this advice at a meeting held Saturday afternoon at the Chamber of Commerce for the purpose of permanently organizing the growers. The varieties which he approved are: Early Ohio, Early St. George, Irish Cobbler, Early Rose, Burbank and Sir Walter Raleigh.

In point of fact, the meeting was a disappointment, only about a dozen people being present. W. D. Mitchell was in the chair. Under the circumstances, it was decided not to discuss the matter of a permanent organization at present, but to call another meeting in May or June. Meantime, the various Farmers' Institutes on the southern part of the Island will be communicated with, and asked to push the project along.

The acreage planted to potatoes this season in this district, and the stocks still on hand, were reported as follows: Metchoy, 20 to 40 acres, about 10 tons on hand; South Caanich, 50 acres, about 100 tons on hand; North Saanich, 40 acres, 30 tons on hand; Strawberry Vale and Cedar Hill, 40 acres, nothing on hand; Gordon Head, 30 acres, 60 tons on hand. There are about two hundred potato growers in the district adjacent to Victoria.

SAY CANNERY COULD DO GOOD BUSINESS

A canning plant in this neighborhood, to handle vegetables as well as berries, was strongly advocated at the conference Sunday night between the Saanich and Gordon Head growers and the Development Group of the Chamber of Commerce. It was declared that such a canner could get plenty of business this year, even though a large proportion of the crop has already been contracted for. A special committee was appointed to try to secure better treatment for the Island in the matter of transportation. At present the Express companies will not receive berries from the Island, while to send them to the Mainland in carload lots costs $100 a car. This is a severe handicap in competition with Mainland districts. A through express rate for berries in carload lots from the Island to prairie points will be pressed for by the Development Group. Improvement of icing facilities on the Island will also be sought.

SUN FAVORED CITY FOR MONTH OF MARCH

Victoria experienced 22 hours of extra sunshine, in spite of the fact that nearly half an inch of rain above the average fell in the month of March this year, intimates F. Kapfer Denison, Superintendent of the Meteorological Observatory at Gonzales Hill.

The rainfall for the full month was 2.81 inches, an increase of .5 of an inch from the average. March precipitation. The sunshine was 181 hours 20 minutes or 22 hours better than the average duration of the sunshine in the same period year by year.

Rain fell on 16 days, but despite this the sun gained the ascendancy for ten hours every day between March 25 to March 30. The month fulfilled the adage of the "Lion and the Lamb" entering with lionine fury and making a graceful exit with the gambols of festive Spring lamb.

The highest temperature was recorded on March 28, being 65 degrees, while the lowest occurred on March 2, being 31 degrees. The lowest temperature "on the ground" was 26 degrees on March 2. The highest temperature for the month came within three degrees of being the top point for that month in the past 49 years. The highest in that period was 68 degrees.

MOOSE WILL ENDEAVOR TO GATHER BIG CLASS

Preparations Are Running Smoothly for Convention in June

Preparations for the convention of the Northwest Moose Association, to be held in June, are going along smoothly, and the local reservation committee anticipate that the available accommodation will be taxed to the utmost. The entertainment committee are preparing a programme that will give the visitors something to do every minute of their stay.

A convention of the women of the Mooseheart Legion will be held at the same time as that of the male lodges, and will add several hundred to the number of persons coming to the city. Several of the drill teams of the women's order will compete in the events to be staged here. The charter of the local lodge was reopened yesterday, in an effort to gather together the largest possible class of candidates to be put through at the convention. It is anticipated that this class will be the most numerous ever initiated at one time by any fraternal organization in this city.
